As the doors opened up before us in September of 2001, no one knew what to expect. With our stomachs full of butterflies and excitement, we entered high school eager to embark on the long and difficult, but rewarding journey ahead of us. As we grew closer together, unforgettable memories were made that caused tears and happiness. We knew that no matter what challenge confronted us, we could face it and come out stronger, walking hand in hand down that never-ending road.

As freshmen we were thrilled to finally be in high school, but the new atmosphere was somewhat intimidating. To help us keep going forward was the new principal, Dr. Prystupa. More support came from the leaders we chose: Gina Graziano as class president, Jeannine Hastings as vice president, Jon Gibbons as secretary, and Mike Toto as treasurer. But just as we were adjusting to our own paths and learning to juggle classes, homework, and sports, 9/11 shook the country. In the midst of it all we proved to be strong and stuck together, helping each other along. As we got back on track and continued with the hectic rhythm of our lives, Friday night football games and being with friends consumed our time. We experienced our first pep rally with school spirit and cheered on the football team the next day as they won the Thanksgiving Day game. After winter break we enjoyed the freshman-sophomore semi and continued to watch our friends sing their hearts out at Top 40 shows. The actors and actresses of our school amazed us as they performed "Steel Magnolias" in April. Afterwards, some time down the road, the Boys' Volleyball team won the Western Mass Title, an award they worked hard to get. As the chapter of freshmen year closed behind us, we were excited for what lay ahead.

Sophomore year meant new surprises and new class officers, all on the football team: Kurt Schebel for president, Kevin Bienia for vice-president, Jon Gibbons for secretary, and Mike Toto for treasurer. The fall was an excellent sports season. Gymnastics came back as they won Western Mass and Girls' Soccer went to the state finals. Even though the Thanksgiving Day Game in West Side was a little snowy, Agawam pulled together a 25-0 win. Due to unfortunate weather, we had the pep rally after the game, but we still had a lot to cheer about. The first Winter Arts Festival was held and the audience watched with amazement. Shortly after, an older classmate of ours passed away. We were able to continue knowing she would always be in our hearts. After months of endless rehearsals, " Grease" was put on in April. Numerous students, musicians, singers, actors, and artists were involved. As the year ended, we looked back on our incredible memories with mixed feelings, but looked forward with anticipation.

To finally be an upperclassman was a joy for all of us. Once again we chose a new group of officers: Chris Tierney as president, Kevin Clark as vice-president, Mike Toto as secretary, and Jon Gibbons as treasurer. As another classmate passed away, we realized that those around us should not be taken for granted. The fall sports teams played extremely well, with all of them achieving good overall season records. We got our first stab at the Powder Puff Game, but lost 24-13 to the seniors. However, we knew that next year would be our chance to win. At the upcoming Junior Dinner Dance guests were treated to a buffet and dancing. The musical "The Wizard of Oz" kept many of us busy at night rehearsals and in-school workshops, but it came together as the cast performed it in April. Around that time, the Shakespeare Society put on a few modern-day Shakespeare skits for the school and the annual Math Jeopardy tested our school's math geniuses. When the seniors left, we were sad to have to let friends go in different directions, but had prom night to celebrate "A Touch of Class."

Senior year was our last year together. For the first time we would say goodbye to all of our friends as our paths separated. Everyone's road in life would be different and we knew that we had to make our last year unforgettable. Our president Ryan McLane, vice-president Jen Sacco, treasurer Kristen Pfau, and secretary Catherine Andrews helped make our senior year the most memorable. As we spent more time together, we enjoyed the Kid Party, the Pep Rally, and our senior prom. We stressed out over college applications together and rejoiced over acceptance letters. The year blew by and we found ourselves graduating. Even though this is the end of our high school days, Class of 2005, the road to the rest of our lives is still unfolding.

...IS NEVER LOST.

CANDIDS

" It's the time of your life that may last a lifetime."
– Sixteen Candles

" It's something unpredictable, but in the end is right, I hope you had the time of your life."
– Green Day

" Life is too deep for words, so don't try to describe it, just live it."
– C.S. Lewis

" I've learned that goodbyes will always hurt, pictures will never replace having been there, memories good and bad will bring tears, and words can never replace feelings."
– Unknown

" Life is a journey, not a destination."
–Aerosmith

" Life gives us brief moments with another...but sometimes in those brief moments we get memories that last a lifetime..."
– Unknown

" We grow neither better nor worse as we get old, but more like ourselves."
– May Lamberton Becker

" Life is ours to be spent not to pay."
– D. H. Lawrence

" Our job in this lifetime is not to shape ourselves into some ideal we imagine we ought to be, but to find out who we already are and become it."
– Steven Pressfield

" To live is so startling it leaves little time for anything else."
– Emily Dickinson

What is the biggest difference between freshman and senior year?

"The biggest difference between my freshman and senior year is when I was a freshman I could not wait to get out, and now that I'm a senior, I look back, and in a way, I want to stay here."
-Kerry McNamee

"I have a car instead of a backpack."
– Vanessa Tencati

"Freshman year, everyone was excited to be going to high school, but now, as seniors, we're only excited about leaving."
– Matt Sadowski

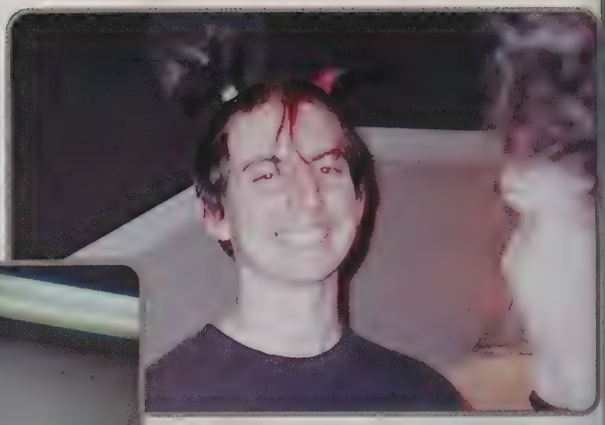

"The amount of friends and the confidence that you gain from year to year."
– Sue Jenney

What is your favorite teacher quote?

" A day without Orefice is like a day without sunshine."
-Signor Orefice
via Kevin Malloch

" Super Ninja Calculators."
– Mrs. Santagate-Sutton

" The reality of the situation is, if there's a fire in the back of the classroom big enough to use the fire extinguisher, we're out the door! Maybe, if we're nice, we'll pull the fire alarm on the way out, but we're out of here!"
– Mr. Fahey via Amy Osgood

" Have a day."
– Mr. Jennings via
Christopher Baum

Favorite Words of Wisdom

" If I could do it all over again, I would do it the same."
– Bobby Orr
(Nick Cardoropoli)

" It's the minute you think you can't that you realize you can."
– Rachel Mozdanowski

" We spend our whole lives searching for all the things we think we want, never really knowing what we have."
– The Ataris
(Ryan McGuire)

" Sometimes you're the windshield; sometimes you're the bug."
– Erica Troy

What is your advice for incoming seniors?

" Work hard, it will pay off in the future. Have fun, these are the days of our lives. Learn, live, and reach for the stars, because the sky's the limit."
– Chanel Hatch

" Don't live in the past, live in the moment."
– Jackie Lear

" Make the best of your senior year and have no regrets."
– Jen Montagna

" The four years fly by, make the last one the best."
– Marc Pereira

What will you miss most about AHS?

" Knowing that the people I have seen almost everyday of my life will never all be under the same roof again."
– Joe Koehler

" Seeing the people that you grew up with everyday."
– Maria Santaniello

I, Michael Toto, leave Anthony Bailey the linebackers and fullback G/L, and Hit em' hard.
I, Erica Danielle Troy, leave Shaun two more years with the reject locker.
I, Angela Velosky, leave Marceno, Cote, Tiffany, + Kauffman, to deal w/ the drama in choreography honors.
I, Jeffrey S. Walker, leave the football and hockey teams great seasons next year, & my sister a good rest of her school career.
I, Kraig Walsh, leave to underclassmen: good luck in the future!
I, Ryan Walsh, leave: good luck c/o 2006! JR- keep the ski team going! MMFC lives on! RIP-PGT
I, Matthew Weir, leave behind the power and the will for you all to overcome the trials and tribulations that life will throw in your way.
I, Julia Weisgerber, leave Cirillz- S.a.B. and Crazy nights 1 year LS and LS 1 year so many mems R ML-1 year Evan's JB-2 years g/l Health and Chem.
I, Julie Mae Wills, leave Megan with the barking dogs of terror, memories of Paris and Nicole, lots of cereal and all of the juice. Sam, "Isn't it a little late for that?" I leave whoever is lucky enough to get it, the beast locker, 1177 (the one with no number on it.)
I, Michelle J. Wollmerhauser, leave to you "barn girls" the best of shows and long fun rides.
I, Michael Wood, leave sis, three more years and to the hockey team I leave a miracle.
I, Steven Wood, leave Juniors 1 more year, sophomores 2 more years, and freshmen 3 more years, and also another miracle for the hockey team.
I, Nicole Woszcyna, leave the cheerleaders good times and the demerit system. Ash-"sugar," JK-rides to school. N. Woz, G. Graz, J. Bo, K. Tap, Ja-uhhh...haha.
I, Marissa Wynne, leave my locker to some new freshman, Laura rides to school, and my only underclassman JJ's coworker Molly.
I, David Zaffetti, leave the bonders, Rachel a lot of great memories, and Cristina 7 more years.
I, Alyssa Marie Zmaczynski, leave you, Alex three more years in band and many laughs. Have fun! I leave Nicole, Amy + the flute section crazy memories and sleepovers. Good luck next year!

I can still recall that first meeting for the Yearbook back in March of 2004 -looking around and seeing all the talented people that made up the 2004 Yearbook staff and I wondered if I would ever be a part of such an impressive production. Now, almost a year later, I am amazed to see how far we have come from that group of juniors just hearing about how much hard work and dedication it was going to take to bring this whole book together. At the time, I had little idea what I was getting into, but I figured I could handle it no matter what. Although Vanessa and I had started plans on this Yearbook in May, little did we know what lie before us. When we stepped into the classroom that first day of school we quickly realized then that this wasn't going to be like anything we had ever expected. We were unceremoniously thrust into reality.

Now, looking back, I realize what an incredibly valuable opportunity that I had been given. To be a part of the 2005 Yearbook staff has been such a rewarding experience that I wouldn't have passed it up for anything. Yes, there were some times when I was ready to " throw in the towel," but those memories are part of the growing pains that our staff has experienced to make the best book we could possibly make. This production has given us all just a little taste of what life will bring us in the future, and without the dedication and teamwork of everyone around me there's no way I would have survived.

I first would like to thank my Co-Editor, Vanessa, who has always been there to help when it got down to the dirty work. We knew each other when we were younger, but we really grew close this past year. Vanessa's constant enthusiasm and spirit has been an inspiration to me throughout this year. Thank you, Vanessa, for everything. Working with you has been a once in a lifetime experience that I'll never forget.

To Mrs. Kolodziej, you have been a terrific role model and so inspiring. You brought out the best of my abilities and given me so much confidence. At times when I believed all was lost because of a malfunctioning computer or a bad CD, you were always there to lift my spirits and help find a way to make all of the deadlines. You have continually encouraged Vanessa and me to make our own creative decisions, but you were quick to step in when you saw a mistake in the making. Thank you for all of your hard work and for believing in all of us. I can only hope that we can make you proud and uphold the reputation of the Sachem in Volume 78.

The 2005 Sachem staff has been so great. The hard work and dedication throughout the year has been tremendous and it can all be seen in the outcome of this yearbook. Without their efforts none of this would have been possible. Every member of this staff constantly amazed me with their abilities to make everything work, and have made my job as co-editor so much easier and enjoyable. You have all been great to work with, thank you for all of your cooperation and commitment.

My family has been amazing throughout all these years and they deserve the biggest thank you I could possibly give. Mom, no matter what, you are always there to encourage me and let me know I can achieve anything. You are an amazing woman and I don't know how you manage with everything that you are faced with. You guide me through the rough times and let me know you are proud of me no matter what. You are constantly the example that I look up to. Dad, you have always believed in me and told me I can do whatever I put my mind to. You are such a kind and caring individual and in turn you have shown me how to be caring and compassionate. I love you both so much, thank you for everything you have done and all you continue to do for me.

To my brother, Mike, you have always been there if I need someone to talk to. Although we've had some rough times, I know you will always be there by my side. Poppy, I love you so very much and I am so thankful you are in my life. You are an incredible grandfather. Aunt Cindy and Uncle Jim, you have both been like a second set of parents for me. You have taken me under your wing and I truly am thankful for everything that you have done for me. Whenever I needed help you were always there - ready to step in and do whatever you could. I love you both. Thank you.

Jacqueline, you have been one of the closest and most loyal friends I have had in my life. With everything we have been through, I know I can always count on you to be there for me, like the sister I never had. You are an amazing person and you have helped to make these past years enjoyable and memorable. Mrs. Svadeba, you have also been a huge part of my life these past years. You have always been there if I needed someone to talk to and I value your advice. Amanda, we have always been friends, but this year we have become especially close. Whenever we are together we have a great time full of memories that I'll never forget. I am so blessed to have friends like you. I love you both. To all my friends, guys and girls, thank you for all the memories. Good luck in everything you do! Class of 2005 – we finally made it!

EDITORS

Vanessa Tencati

When I took on the title of Sachem 2005 Yearbook Co-Editor, I had no idea what to expect. I was extremely excited to be involved in something so huge, and my enthusiasm carried me through the early days, virtually free from yearbook tension and anxiety. I took my time thinking up theme ideas and preparing the general plan for the yearbook during the summer preceding my senior year. But by the time we were two weeks into school, the reality of what being yearbook editor actually meant started to set in, along with the tremendous stress that comes along with it.

Now that it's all over, I've realized that it was worth every minute, both wonderful and agonizing, and everything in between. This staff has not only come together to produce a truly amazing final product, but we've learned invaluable school, work, and life lessons along the way. This book never would have been possible without all of the friends, families, teachers, and everyone who helped the staff members through the days that were a little rough.

I personally have so many people to whom I owe my gratitude, and who made it possible for me to lead this project. I first want to thank Kelly. Even though we were "best buds" in fifth grade, I never fully knew you until this year. We grew apart through junior high and high school, and it ended up being an awesome bonus to meet up again to work jointly on our yearbook. I couldn't have done all the dirty work without you, and even though the title of "Editor-in-Chief" would've been pretty nice, being co-editors was even more special. I'm happy it was you I got to share this experience with.

Mrs. Kolodziej, you know that you are the driving force behind this book, and without you constantly reminding me of deadlines and printing out to-do lists for me, our pages would have been sent in even later than they already were. Your hard work and dedication was an inspiration, in turn, for my hard work and dedication this year, and I'll always look to your perseverance to set an example for myself. You helped us fulfill our dreams for the book, and I hope in the end that Volume 78 is worthy of your name as its advisor. To all the rest of the staff, we pulled together to make this awesome book and every single one of you should be proud of what you have accomplished. It wouldn't have worked without any one of you, and I'm so glad we all got to be part of such an amazing team.

Dad, you pushed me to always try my hardest in everything that I did, and for that I owe you my thanks. I appreciate that you've always guided me in the right direction, but never stopped me from being myself. It may have been rough at times, but I think I turned out okay, and I owe it to you. Mom, you've always been someone I can talk to about pretty much everything, and I want to thank you for always trusting me and encouraging me to live my life my own way. You never seemed ashamed of me, no matter what I did that might deserve it. I'm able to learn from my mistakes and move on with life because of what you've taught me. Kathy and Tony, you are the best second parents a girl could ask for, and I have learned so many things from both of you that I would never have experienced had you not married my parents. It must have been hard to determine what role to play in raising Kaylyn and I, but I think you've done an amazing job. We wouldn't be who we are without you. I love all of you so much.

Kaylyn—what can I say? We've grown together ever since I was 20 months old, and I have shared more of my life with you than with anyone else on the planet. Even though we've had our attitudes, arguments, and downright outrageous fights, it's been so much fun having you right down the hall for the past 17 years, and I don't know how I'm going to go on without having you to be bored with. I love you and I'll miss you when I leave, but we have unlimited minutes on our cell phones so I think we'll be all right.

Lisa and Kara, you two have been great examples for me to observe in my youth of how a loving, amazing family should be. You are both extremely friendly and caring individuals, and I've learned a lot from you ever since our parents got married. Ashley, you are one of the most original and awesome people I've ever met. Having you as an older sister has taught me so much. I want to apologize for being a brat when you babysat me and thank you for showing me how great life can be when you follow your own path. To everyone else in my family, your unending love and support is always with me, and I love you all very much. Thank you for always being there—I know you always will be.

Jordan, there aren't enough words to describe how important you are to me and how much having you has helped me through high school. Although it's been tough not being able to see each other whenever we want to, just having you to call has been enough to keep me sane. I can talk to you about anything, and you always understand what I mean, even when I might not. Sometimes I think you know me better than I know myself. Just having you listening to anything I ever have to say is a blessing. We've had so much fun together, and I have you to thank for some of the best memories of my life. You're my best friend and I love you with all my heart.

All the souls I've been lucky enough to know within these halls of Agawam High School, I'd like to thank you as well. Kirsten—it would've been a complete bore without you. To my girl friends, guy friends, school friends, work friends, everyone I talk to, it's been a blast these past 12 years and I'll think about you all when we're away at college, thinking up crazy stories about what everyone could be doing. I want to wish you good luck, and hope that you to make every moment of your life count. Class of 2005, thanks for the memories! We're out!

Pitching, fielding, and slugging: the three key elements to the success of the 2004 Brownies ason. Under Coach Peter Clark, their solid 13-7 cord and trip to post season makes the 2004 ason like the past: always successful. Division I st team All-Scholastic captains Casey Federico atcher) and Justin Perry (pitcher/1st base) led eir team to play every game with intensity and art. Pitching success ricocheted from the arms of e Justin Perry, second team All-Scholastic pick Jeff ilsen, and newcomer Ryan McLane. Key players e second team All-Scholastic picks Kyle Perry and vin Malloch and new additions like slugger Joe bano and Kevin Bienia helped their season blos- m. Also contributing to the team's effort were turnees Neil Donah, T.J. Hamilton, and Andrew akelee. Determination, hard work, intensity, and dication helped Agawam Baseball add another eat season to their winning chapters of Brownie ll.

" Hard work and dedication with our returning talent made our 2004 season successful."– Dan Cosgrove

" We played hard, we accomplished many of the season goals, and with a solid core of returning players, we should do well."

The Brownies try to position themselves to score a goal.

Dan Mancini sends a ball straight to the net.

The boys are getting rea to start their game.

The Boys' Lacrosse team hoped for another great season despite losing eleven players to graduation. Under senior captain Dan Mancini and junior captain Alex Ellsworth, the team proved that hard work and dedication were the keys to their success. Despite finishing the season out with a 7-11 record, the team still managed to top their league opponents earning them the League Championship. After qualifying for the Western Mass tournament, earning the fifth seed, the boys were defeated by a strong, fourth seeded Minnechaug team in a close 7-5 game. Dan Mancini was the sole Agawam player to earn an All-Scholastic pick on the second team. With excitement for the 2005 season, the eighteen returnees hope to improve their skills and strive to win a Western Mass title.

Looking for an open man is harder than it seems.

Watch out for this batch of Brownies!

Waiting for the perfect pass.

This ball always belongs the Brownies.

For the 2004 Girls' Varsity Lacrosse program, predictions forecasted a rebuilding season. However, these tough girls proved everyone wrong with a winning record of 11-7 and making it as far as the Western Mass quarter finals. Losing only three valuable seniors from the 2003 season, the girls stepped it up a notch led by senior and junior Division I first team All-Scholastic captains Megan Gloster and Tiffany Manzi and second team All-Scholastic senior captain Tory Lyons. With additional help from powerful newcomers to join returning varsity members Bethany Garvin, Tami Burmeister, and Annie Zaffetti, to name a few, their successful season was the best in years. The Brownies have a lot of young talented girls on the horizon so the future surely looks hopeful for Girls' Lacrosse.

" Last year was a rebuilding year and we are expecting many new talents to contribute to our young team's success." – Tiffany Manzi

After coming off a .500 season in 2003, the six returnees knew what they wanted to accomplish for the 2004 season. Senior captains Teresa Bonavita, Danielle Borsari, and Joanne Brignoli proved to be a strong contingent to lead the team. Star pitcher Katie Gorman and center fielder Jen Sacco also helped lead the way to amazing success. The team finished out their regular season with a respectable 13-7 final record. After cruising through the beginning rounds of the playoffs by beating top seeded East Longmeadow, Agawam's biggest challenge, the defending champions from Westfield, stood between them and a Western Mass Championship. Agawam was down late in the game but rallied to score three runs in the final inning, securing their place at the top of Division I. Bonavita and Gorman were both named to The Republican's first team All-Scholastic while Borsari and Sacco earned second team honors. With ten returnees for the 2005 season, the Brownie girls can only hope for a repeat to this year's incredible victory.

" We accomplished our dream of winning a Western Mass championship title because of our team's talents, dedication, and heart. Next year, we'll take states." -Gorman

"Our team had a lot of dedication and with the support of our coach Bill Spear, we were able to have a successful year." – Luca Mineo

The Varsity Boys' Tennis team has always been impressive and competitive, and for their 2004 season they remained just that, taking Western Mass by storm and making it to tournament finals. The boys became league champions and accomplished everything they had hoped for and more in their spring season. Coached by Bill Spear, all fifteen boys worked hard to get to their goal of winning their league. Captain Matt Lyman was picked for All-Scholastic Division I second team singles and contributed to the team's 11-3 record and success. Key players like Jay Quigley, Marc Maloney, and William Loong helped shape the team and losing them to graduation will leave the Agawam Boys' Tennis team with much needed rebuilding. However, returnees Luca Mineo and Ryan Walsh will be left to step up and lead the boys and hopeful newcomers to reclaim their league title.

"Overall, the team improved very well. Unfortunately, the team is losing many seniors to graduation, so next season will be difficult, but fun." – Ryan Walsh

With a record of 13-3, the Girls' Tennis team accomplished many goals for the 2004 season. Senior captains Rebecca Leupo and Lina Moysis were able to lead the team to a league championship and an excellent showing in tournament play. Playing first singles for the team was freshman Myungsun Ro. As a first team All-Scholastic pick, Myungsun was able to earn a 7th seed in the tournament and made it all the way to the quarterfinals in the singles. Myungsun shows that she will be a force on the tennis court for the next three years. Also, seniors Laura Pederson and Ashley Macey, along with juniors Barbara Brizzolari, Jamie Spear, and Alex Ivey, contributed to the team throughout the entire season. The seven remaining seniors along with many tremendously talented underclassmen hope to have another successful season in 2005.

The Brownie Boys' Track team proved their strengths in the 2004 season with a winning 5-3 record and impressive overall individual achievements. The boys were led by their captains, All-Scholastic second team picks Pete Midura and Ryan Sullivan, pole vaulter Alex Alvanos, fast footed Nick Gumlaw, and thrower Kyle Lafontaine. Together each member of the team contributed to its unified success. Individually, the Brownies found success in many teammates: Kevin Clark and Chris Tierney (mile, 2 mile), Midura and Nick Gurau (800m, 4x4), Gumlaw (100m, 200m) and Sullivan (300m hurdles), Dustin Hebert and Lafontaine (shotput and discus), Jon Gibbons and Bobby Jensen (javelin), and Joe McGeoghan (high jump, 4x1). With the team members all depending on each other, they won five meets and cheered one another on. Despite a number of graduating seniors, the boys' outlook is still hopeful that they will win the Western Mass track championship title for seasons to come.

The Girls' Track team has always been a steady contender in the race for the Western Mass championship title. Last year, the girls lost many Western Mass qualifying seniors to graduation, so this was definitely a year to rebuild. With an overall record of 4-4, the girls ran, jumped, and threw under the leadership of captains Adrienne Brodowski, All-Scholastic Division I first team pick Katie Malloy, Brianne Nicklaw, Amy Lownds, and Liz Leon. Faced with a leg injury, captain Brodowoski was out for the entire season, yet unified the team with spirit and cheer. Sophomore Lauren Surprenant (100m, 200m) stepped up in Brodowoski's place to lead the short distance sprint team. Katie Malloy, always a success with her amazing high jump qualifying heights, helped bring the team together in her goal to match every opponent point for point. Conditioning on and off the track, the girls' team proved that hard work and dedication along with rebuilding can go far. With many hopeful newcomers and skilled returnees, the Girls' Track team has high hopes to make it to Western Mass next season and bring the gold back to where it belongs: with the Brownies.

With only two returnees, captains Matt Hartmann and Alex Vilkhovoy, it's hard to believe that the ys' volleyball team would have made it to the ayoffs, but the 2004 team did just that. These two ptains, along with Varsity newcomers Tom Gorman, sse Clausen, Alex Friedrich, Justin Chretien, and att Sadowski, all united to become one of the better ams in Western Mass. The boys finished the season t with fifteen wins and only three losses, two due to ate power Minnechaug and one to Ludlow. The team rned the third rank behind these two teams. The st round of the playoffs was easy for Agawam, fortlessly beating Putnam in three games. In the mifinals, the team won their first game against dlow, but unfortunately lost the next three. Al- ough the Brownies could not win a third consecutive estern Mass championship, most would agree that, nsidering their circumstances, they did extremely ell. With eight returnees for the 2005 season, the ys are looking to retake the Western Mass title and ake a run for the state championship.

" Although we had a young, inexperienced team, I think we proved to be one of the best teams in Western Mass." – Matthew Sadowski

" This year's team is much stronger than last year. Winning Western Mass is our goal. Chi Chi Chi Ha Ha Ha!" – Christopher Tierney

In a grueling sport where running 3.1 miles over hills and on different terrains is required, the Agawam Cross Country Team has trained hard to be successful. Kevin Clark, Chris Tierney, and Bryan Lane were the 2004 captains for the sixteen-man team. Agawam has had success winning six of their eight meets. The only two Agawam losses were meets against Amherst and Ludlow, which were both extremely close. Kevin Clark, Jay Olbrych, and Chris Tierney had the fastest times during the season. Kevin Clark had an amazing individual season. He broke two course records at Chicopee State Park and Agawam's home course at Robinson State Park. The top runners from the team all performed very well at the final Western Mass meet. With some decidedly strong underclassmen, the team should have an equally successful season next year.

Steph shows her endurance by beating out the other runners.

Although it may not look it, Pfau is happy with her time.

The Girls' Cross Country team has experienced their share of ups and downs. Captains Catherine Andrews and Kristen Pfau knew it was going to be a hard season with only four others signing up . This was disappointing for the girls, seeing how a full roster is made up of at least seven people and most teams have around fifteen. Nevertheless, they worked relentlessly at practice to improve on their talents. Because of the lack of numbers they were unable to win. However, the girls managed to perform very well at all of their meets. Most of the time their six runners were in or around the top ten of the meet, but could not pull out a win. Scoring very well throughout the entire season were both captains as well as Stephanie Midura. After such a hard season, the team still managed to perform very well at the final Western Mass meet which finally met all their season's expectations. Hard work and team unity helped keep this small group together throughout the entire season and will help the team in years to come.

Reaching for the ball.

Chicks with sticks is their motto, but these girls are so much more than that. The 2004 Field Hockey team fared well with an overall record of 5-10-2. Losing 12 seniors posed a minor setback, forcing the returning experienced players and 2004 captains Katie Gorman and Steph Brunelle to lead their team to the best of their ability. The team is known for their unity and spirit, which could be witnessed throughout every game of their season. Key wins over East Longmeadow and Central sparked a fire in the 2004 girls to strive for the best. Unfortunately, the team didn't make it to post-season play. Seniors Sarah Bishop and Cali Longtin, junior Angelina Barbarisi, and freshman Julie Gorman all contributed as role models to the team and played every game with high intensity and spirit. Even though the team is losing many seniors to graduation this year as well, next season still looks promising for Agawam Girls' Field Hockey.

At the beginning of the season, no one predicted the Agawam football team to even come close to doing well. But the Brownies have really proven themselves as an excellent team this year relying on motivation and leadership. Coach Tad Desateuls and senior captains Jonathan Gibbons, Michael Toto, and Alex Ellsworth, shared leadership that ultimately led to the team's success. The team finished the regular season with a record of 7-3. The highlight of the season was Agawam's decisive win over Western Mass power, Longmeadow. An undefeated Longmeadow was handed their first loss at home since 1997 by the Brownies. Senior Jonathan Gibbons finished the game with 156 rushing yards and two touchdowns. Also, great defensive efforts came from captain Alex Ellsworth, who had two sacks, and Ryan Pellerin, who had an interception in the final quarter of the game to stop the Longmeadow drive. Agawam also had excellent wins over Chicopee Comp, Central, and Cathedral. Agawam finished the season with their heads held high, ranked 32 out of over 280 football teams in the entire state. With such a successful season, next year's seniors can only hope for another great year.

In increasing popularity, the Agawam team has had much success during the 2 season. Coach L'Heureux and captains, Z Lapponese, Nicholas Pokora, and Pete Lon were the leaders of the team. With hard w and relentless practice, they prepared every individual meet, and ended the sea with an impressive record of fourteen wins only six losses. The only team Agawam did beat was Longmeadow, but split matches strong teams such as East Longmead Minnechaug, Cathedral, and South Had The team's top performers included the t captains along with Jeff Stanton, Shawn San and Kevin Osgood. At the end of the season, Western Mass tournament was held at Agawa home course, Oak Ridge. The Brownie gol all performed well and up to par. With the performance of the day, Zach Lapponese a 77, which ranked him in the top 10 during meet and qualified him for the State tou ment, where he solely represented Agaw well. With so many returning underclass and also many prospects from the Ju Varsity team, Agawam Golf is sure to e another successful season in 2005.

The balance beam and Pfau work so well together...

The 2004 Boys' and Girls' Gymnastics team was ready and roaring for their season. Coached by returnee Lindsay Hadden, the team was excited and prepared. Their amazing 13-1 season proved it. Losing key seniors like the Malloy twins and Mary Zajac posed a setback to the team. So, in typical true Brownie fashion, what did they do? They worked that much harder for recognition and success, and it surely paid off for 2004. Captains Diana Forbes, Lindsey Surprenant, and Sara Penna led the team. They gathered in unison, ready to prove just how hard they wanted to earn a contending spot for the Western Mass title that previous Brownie Gymnasts have earned. A team effort is what counted for these gymnasts. With new additions like Steven Lucia and returnee Lindsey Pfau, they showed that they wouldn't back down. Fierce competition is what these gymnasts strive for and ultimately their goal to win was completed.

The Brownies faced a big challenge when their 2004 season rolled around. Don't let their 6-12 record fool you; with skill and dedication, these boys had a successful rebuilding season. Virtually losing their entire starting line-up to graduation did not phase the varsity boys as they fought their way with hard work and determination to gain big time credit. Led by seniors Dan Cosgrove and Kevin Malloch, the young hopeful team began every game with one common goal: never to be underestimated. Key players Brendan Ennis, Tom Albano, and Andrew King helped the team with intensity and determination. The 2004 boys were led by returning coach Mike Lyman who always proved to his team that heart and strategy would be the keys to success, and they displayed just that. Next season the Brownies will offer an experienced team with the sincere hope of making the playoffs as step one in the tough Western Mass tournament competition.

" Along with hard work, dedication and discipline, bonding will play the key role in our team's success."

This bunch of dedicated girls know all about heart. The 2004 Varsity Girls Soccer team had a rebuilding season as well as a lot of success coinciding with their ups and downs. Their record of the 2004 season was 8-9-1. Faced with injuries and hardships, the girls worked hard in order to try and make themselves another success story. Notorious for her coaching on and off the field, Laura Wray-Ramos led these girls amazingly as she always has in the past. Captains Lauren Peltier and All-Scholastic Divison I first team picks Elise Davilli and Tiffany Manzi led their team to many victories. Davilli and Peltier suffered injuries that sidelined them for part of the season, but Manzi stepped up as a leader to show that injury wouldn't stop the Brownies. Key players like Sue Jenney in net, Cassie Ashwell as sweeper, and Juli Persico at midfield stepped up to prove that the Brownies were one strong unit. The 20 girls united, hoping to reach one goal: to make the Western Mass tournament. This year, they unfortunately happened to fall short. The Brownies will not be kept down, however; they are always in the race for a Western Mass title and they have the potential to win in all their future seasons.

probably not hard to believe that a team with two returning ptains, nine other seniors, and two underclassmen would have ccessful season. And that they did. Led by captains Jen Sacco Jamie Cullen, along with seniors, Barbara Brizzolari, Jes ora, Stacy Boisvert, Mel Sampson, Vanessa Tencati, and Amy lood, the team used their experience and teamwork to help n throughout the entire season. After dropping their season ner to West Side, the girls never looked back. They went on to t all other Division I competitors and even beat West Side in their nd match. Also, the Brownies played two matches against the Division II team, Frontier Regional, where in two very close ches, Agawam took the first and Frontier won the second. With nal record of 16-2, Agawam easily made the tournament ning the third seed. The only two teams ranked ahead of the s were Taconic and Chicopee Comp, two teams the Brownies er faced during the regular season. In their first playoff game easily breezed by Central High and into in the semi-finals. In next match of the tournament, the girls faced their cross-town ls, West Side again, where the girls won three out of the four nes, advancing them to the Western Mass championship title he. Here they faced a skilled and talented Amherst team. wam had beat Amherst twice during the regular season, but w they had improved since. Agawam won three games, losing , to secure the first Western Mass title for Agawam High in seven rs since the program began. It was a huge achievement that not soon be forgotten.

With only five returnees, the Boys' Basketball team knew that hard work and effort were going to the keys to success for 2005. In his third season as S head basketball coach, Mike Vedovelli looked to prove the 8-12 record put up by the 2003-2004 team. ding the guys to success were captains Jonathan bons, Tim Culhane, and Ryan McLane. Other links in team's backbone, including returnees Dan Lizotte and an Marchese, and newcomer Joseph McDyer, contrib- d to the team's efforts as well. Throughout the entire son these guys practiced hard and it definitely showed. 2004-2005 season proved to be excellent as all of the s poured into the gymnasium to root on such a great m. The Agawam Girls' Basketball team added yet another successful winning season to their recent history of victory. Guided by five-year returning coach Bronwyn Monahan, the Brownie girls were full of talent, new and old. Captains for their 2005 season were All-Scholastic first team picks Kara Powell and Stacy Boisvert, and senior veteran Katie Gorman. The mix of talent, dedication, and determination pushed the Brownies to play hard in order to clinch a Western Mass tournament spot. Powell, one of the best players and leading scorers in Western Mass, has excellent ball skills, charisma, and trains all-year round. Newcomers like senior Rachel Dutilly, juniors Keeley Conte and Jessica Morris, and freshmen Julie Gorman and Christina Korney added their skills into the mix to comprise a well-balanced and formidable team. These positive bunch of athletes know what it takes to win basketball games, and continued their teamwork and dedication to finish out another impressive season for the Brownies.

Agawam’s got spirit, yes they do! Agawam’s got spirit, how ‘bout you?

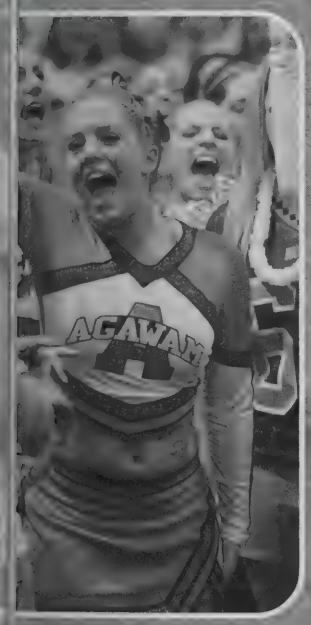

Go, Fight, Win!: a phrase often heard through the stands of football and basketball games as the dedicated and hardworking cheerleaders root on the home team. This year the squad got a new coach, Gina Keddy, the experienced former coach of another high school cheerleading squad. Not only do the girls brave the cold weather at football games and pack the stands at basketball games year after year, they also have their own competition season. The girls participate in many competitions including a Western Mass championship and a State Championship, which take months of practice and training to prepare for. New bright uniforms and numerous fun props definitely added to the usual spunk the girls have. This year, the varsity cheerleaders earned the top spot in Western Mass in their respective division. With strong leadership from the two captains, Jacquie Svadeba and Nicole Woszczyna, and senior members Gina Graziano, Katie Tapply, and Nicole Struck, the girls had a year full of fun and hard work that will not be forgotten.

The Varsity Ice Hockey team has come a long way in the past few seasons, and for 2005, they were shooting for the stars. With talented players and hopeful newcomers, the Brownie Hockey team started off destined for success. Led by Coach Jon Cirelli, the team was versatile, disciplined, and ultimately successful. Captains for the 2005 season were Adam Corbin, Zach Lapponese (seniors), Armand Dubuc, and Ryan Kocot (juniors). All four captains were veterans to the ice and key players on the starting roster. Senior Sarah Bishop was in only her second year, yet ever improving, as the starting varsity goalie. Other key talents were Sal Persico, Mike Wood, and Kyle Gendron. The team had chemistry, and it showed on the ice. Important games the Brownies faced were opponents Minnechaug, Longmeadow, and big time rival West Springfield. With a winning record, each game drew the team closer and closer to clinching a spot in the Western Mass Ice Hockey Tournament.

This year's Brownie Boys' Indoor Track team was comprised of all-stars, veterans, prospects, and athletes in training. The team, led by Coach Daniel Pryce, jump-started their season with impressive wins under their belt. All-Scholastic first team pick and senior captain Alex Ellsworth led the Boys' team by bringing every eligible point onto the Brownie scoreboard. One of the fastest sprinters in Western Mass as well as statewide, Ellsworth took his leadership role seriously with his positive attitude and dedication to the team. Other key stars included short sprinter and captain Nick Jacks, along with high jumper Joe McGeoghan. Senior all-star Mike Toto is the big Brownie hurler who threw the shotput over forty feet. Senior Kevin Clark led the distance team with his impressive mile and two mile times. Young hopefuls included freshman Nick Midura and sophomore Tom Albano, who ultimately delivered by the end of the season. The team is using their hard work in competition and to improve league standings. The Varsity Boys' Indoor Track team meant business this year, and fought for every Individual and Western Mass qualification with spirit and heart.

lard work, commitment, and good ıde is the key to success; the girls ear possess all these qualities so I ope our team will be strong..."
- Melanie Sampson

With such a large turnout, the 2005 Girls' Varsity Indoor Track team began the season with a positive outlook. Coach Daniel Pryce led the girls' in a rebuilding, but still successful season. Losing many senior all-star performers to graduation, the team this year was left with newcomers in new spots. With a turn out of twenty-seven freshmen, the team looked hopeful early on with some wins on their scoreboard. Captain and all-star, Amy Osgood, was a great leader and a diverse performer. She led the team in high jumping this season, and was successful in any event where she needed to fill in. Melanie Sampson was the second captain for the Girls' Indoor team, and was ever improving. Short sprinters Caitlin Breault and Lauren Surprenant, along with veteran distance runners Steph Midura, senior Kristen Pfau, and senior Catherine Andrews, also added to the team's success. Andrews currently holds Agawam High School's school record in the two-mile. Versatile and quick, she motivates the team to achieve the very best. With successful returnees and hardworking newcomers, the girls finished out the season proudly.

" The season looks like a bright one, we should do well just as long as we get some snow." - Jeffrey Lagasse

With solid returnees, the Agawam Boys' Ski team raced down the snowy hill to success this year. Senior Jeff Lagasse, returning All Western Mass selection, was responsible for leading the team to victory and showing all of the contenders the way down the mountain. Christopher Graveline and Ryan Walsh, who also performed extremely well the previous season, continued to play vital roles in the achievement of the team. The team's coach, Mr. Olson, who is also a science teacher at AHS, always tried to teach as much as he could, while still letting the guys enjoy themselves. The team trained hard on and off the slopes this season. When there wasn't snow, the boys strapped on their in-line skates and roller bladed down the hills of Agawam to prepare. The team was very happy with their season, and wishes future success for skiers-to-be atop the mountain.

On your mark... get set... GO!

Keeping a good line, staying low, and always using your edges. These three things are aspects of skiing that the Girls' Varsity team has worked on the entire season to be successful. Even when there was no snow, the girls went to an area gym to train and condition for upcoming races. Once the snow did come, it was on for the girls. Returnees Laura Provost and Cali Longtin both placed at Western Mass last year and led the team to a great season. Lindsie Lavin, Beth Garvin, and Molly Nowill also scored well for the Brownies. The girls declared that their season was successful because of their great coach. Coach Graveline always kept them positive, teaching them everything he knew about skiing and having fun while doing so. The girls always had a good time and hope that they keep their positive attitudes during future years on the mountain.

Steve " flies" past the competition.

With such a small team—unfortunately, only eight members—the Boys' Swimming team looked for individual improvement and success this year. In a sport like swimming, it's hard to be successful without the numbers, but that didn't get these guys down. Junior Matthew Styckiewicz was the team's top swimmer, scoring in distances, breastroke, and the individual medley. In the first meet of the season against Monson, Styckiewicz set a school record in the 100-yard backstroke, proving his passion for quality swimming at AHS. Matthew Acquaro and Adam Picard, the only two other returnees, also contributed a huge amount of hard work and dedication throughout the season. The team accomplished many of their goals and had fun while doing so. All they can hope is that their next season will be just as fun and fulfilling.

The key to be successful in high school swimming is hard work and strength in numbers. In a sport where there are several events and three positions earn points for the team, a number of swimmers are needed to compete. Coming off a 3-9 previous season, the 2004-2005 Girls' Swimming team knows that this year, they have more strength in numbers, which will help them win. The top three point scorers from last year—Katelyn Iacolo, Tammy Gorman, and Chelsea Hendricks—knew that they had to step up and continue to win for their team. Seniors, Jes Lalli, Jen Clark, Tiffany Gabriel, and Brittany Devoe, and juniors, Ashley Gabriel, Ashley Weir, and Shelby Winter, have also all made a positive impact on the team's season. Through it all, Coach Jacques and Coach Waters helped the girls set high goals and make sure that they did their very best to meet them. As swimming becomes more popular, look for the girls to improve their skills even further in upcoming seasons.

Preparing and watching rest of the meet...

Always a dominant force in Western Mass, the Agawam Varsity Wrestling 2005 team had a re-uilding and conditioning season. Despite losing fteen senior All-Stars, this year's team was full of etermination to use their talent and skill and make it nto tournament. Captains and all-stars Nick DeCoteau 171), Dan Higgins (135), Jim Lewin (160), and Adam eccarini (152) added experience to the young, hope-ul team. Newcomers, like junior transfer William isinger, and freshmen Nick Allen, Dave Cook, and Matt lacFadzen, also contributed their skilled talent. The eam this year was full of prospects with scattered eterans. 145 weight classed Tisinger, along with aptain DeCoteau, Higgins, Ceccarini, and senior Mike antos, showed that Agawam Varsity wrestling was erious about winning. These key players helped the eam beat opponents like Smith, Northampton, and Vestfield, to name a few. These guys gave 110% in neets, at practice, and in the general support of the eam. Experience, discipline, and endurance proved he Agawam Wrestling program was bound for success.

EVENTS...
"PIT STOPS"

On the road of life, there are many stops along the way that provide us with anticipation, excitement, and enjoyment. The same theory applies to the path that every student travels on his or her way through high school. The most significant "Pit Stops," like the Prom and the Senior Semi-Formal, are looked forward to all year long by the attendees of Agawam High. When they finally arrive, memories are made that have the potential to last a lifetime. Fun, however, is always guaranteed. There are enough amazing events throughout the year that keep everyone's agenda full to the brim with fun and amusement to help escape from the pressures of classes and studying.

Prom 2004

Leah Cook said it right–" Prom was memorable because the classy atmosphere and environment. It is the o event everyone anticipates for the whole year." A high scho student's prom is an important highlight in his or her life a our 2004 prom exceeded everyone's expectations. T Junior/Senior Prom was held on Tuesday, June 8th, 200 After spending countless hours preparing, students and th guests arrived at Chez Josef and were promptly greeted wi the flash of cameras from excited friends and highly train professionals. Inside, everyone was in admiration of the pi and black decorations, which gave the room a very styli look. Soon the groups of prom-goers were presented wi their delicious dinners; the choices were chicken, steak, a stuffed shrimp, all of which were prepared by the fine culinary masters in town. Afterwards, the crowd danced t night away to music provided by a fantastic DJ. Fra Sinatra's "The Way You Look Tonight" enriched the elegan of the prom as the theme song. 2004's " A Touch of Clas prom will surely be remembered as the classiest high scho event of the year for all who attended.

Prom Committee 2005

Guys, don't get jealous. Mr. Trahan always brings the most dates to the prom.

When you think about high school, one main event should pop into your mind: The Prom. Well, in order to have a good Prom, you need a good Prom Committee, and this year Agawam High was blessed with the best. Working hard after school, this designer staff planned the theme, colors, music, sales, seating, reception, and much more. With the leadership of Advisor Mr. Trahan and Prom Manager Mary Gottardi, this year's prom will be one to remember. Melanie Sampson remarked, "Junior/Senior Prom is an important aspect of high school because it is one of the best memory-making nights. Prom Committee worked hard this year to make the best out of the night." So just remember who is to thank when you have the time of your life.

Orange & Brown Day

What do you get when you put Seniors, Junio Sophomores, Freshmen, and faculty dressed in ange and brown in the school gymnasium? Orange Brown Day, of course! This year's Orange & Brown D started off with an amazing performance by senior Jere Skiba, who played electric guitar to Jimi Hendrix's ren tion of the Star Spangled Banner. He wowed the ent school with his musical ability. The award winning A Band then performed their field show music while eve one enjoyed dancing to it, including the teachers! T cheerleaders did a great job with their routine as well. if that wasn't enough entertainment, the Robotics te gave away a few free t-shirts with one of their hi-tech robo Mayor Cohen then announced Mr. Conte's prestigio induction into the Coaches' Hall of Fame. Thanksgiving Day Game

The 80th annual meeting of Agawam and West Spring field at the Thanksgiving Day football game was played West Side this year on a surprisingly warm November orning. It came through as a huge victory for the ownies, who ended up with an impressive 42-6 win er rival West Side. Senior Joe McGeoghan caught three uchdown passes from quarterback Jordan Buiso, and ner seniors Mark DaSilva, Kurt Schebel, and captain n Gibbons also scored touchdowns throughout the me to lead Agawam to its glory. Kevin Bienia contrib-ed as well, converting for several extra points through e goal up-rights. Despite the unusual weather, the otball team was pumped and ready to once again defeat eir long-time rival West Side. The Brownies dominated the field and made all of their fans proud. Agawam ns showed their support by sporting T-day shirts that ated simply, "Beating West Side...priceless."

This wall of Brownies can't be stopped.

Is that your victory dance?

Celebration after another awesome touchdown by the Brownies.

Powder Puff Game

We had beautiful weather for this year's annual Powd Puff Game. Announcer Ryan McLane and scorekeep Ryan Pellerin were up in the press box as the Senior a Junior girls of Agawam High battled it out on the footb field. Coached by Jordan Buiso and Jon Gibbons, t Seniors defeated the Juniors with an actual score of 26- and a somewhat exaggerated score of 99-7. The Seni captains were Gina Gessay and Katie Gorman, and t Juniors were led by Keeley Conte, Julie Persico, and Je Morris. Mary Gottardi, Stacy "The Bruiser" Boisvert, a "Stormin' Gorman" provided some amazing defense whi made it hard for Persico to throw to teammates Linds Lavin, Lauren Surprenant, or the younger Gorman. For t seniors, quarterback Gina Gessay ran the ball in for the fi touchdown, and later on Beth Garvin and Jen Sacco ma the other two, completing a pass each with their amazi catching. The marching band performed a great halftin show and provided music throughout the exciting gam and referees Anthony Verteramo, Kevin Bienia, and Antho Sotolotto called it fair. Everyone had fun and the gan ended with one huge tackle fiesta.

Okay, for the last time... you can't forward pass the ball!

The junior girls can still smile even after defeat.

Kid Party

There was dancing, eating, horror, and laughter. It a night when you could find smurfs, ninja turtles, s cowboys, and the ladies of Moulin Rouge all in the same ro It was none other than... the Senior Kid Party! A numbe the ladies came as groups of holidays, gangsta and m girls, and also beauty pageant winners from all over country. There were many creative couple costumes, suc Laverne and Shirley and the Super Mario Brothers. Mic Jackson even made a scary appearance. A few of the g showed their more feminine side and a whole crew dressed as Disney characters. To add to the fun, the ca the Rocky Horror Picture Show was there to do the Time W again. The cafeteria was grimly decorated with graveste and a haunted house scene. When the partygoers got hun chips, pizza, and soda were served. And, of course, there dancing and even contests for the inspiring costumes. Gessay and Matt Sadowski won best couple as Mario Luigi, and Rachel Dutilly won best female costume in her b dancer ensemble. Even though it took place on November and not on Halloween, it was still an entertaining and amus night for all who attended.

Semi-Formal 2005

Stephanie has found the man of her dreams!

What's a great way to celebrate Christmas vacation? For many AHS seniors, the Senior Semi was a spectacular way to round out the holiday festivities. Seniors and their guests gathered at the Log Cabin on Tuesday, December 28, 2004, for a night full of fun. Once inside and warming up, everyone snapped pictures constantly and talked about the thrilling ride up to the fabulous Holyoke banquet hall. The girls, especially, were smiling, laughing, and showing off their gorgeous dresses. Waiters and waitresses served a delicious pork and chicken dinner, followed by a sweet brownie fudge dessert. After visiting their friends' tables, taking more pictures, and stuffing their faces, all those in attendance headed to the dance floor to groove to DJ Styles, who kept everyone entertained. Some of the night's favorite songs were " Everything I Do, I Do It For You" by Bryan Adams and " 1, 2 Step" by Ciara. And of course some favorites, like " Cotton Eyed Joe" and " Electric Slide," kept everyone busy trying to figure out the steps! By the end of the night, shoes were scattered about the tables and the dancing crowd was ready for a break. The event ended with everyone feeling refreshed and cheerful, looking forward to the rest of the evening, wherever it would take them.

Nice hat Brian!

Jessica and Matt are happy to be at the semi together.

Performing Arts... "On the Tour Bus"

Agawam High is full of budding artists and musicians who possess a deep desire to share their growing talents with the world around them. The school's performing arts program gives these gifted young da Vincis and Jimi Hendrixes an outlet in which to pour their creativity and maturing genius. The concerts, art exhibits, and dance recitals put on throughout the year are an awesome spectacle to behold–the students performing as well as the students observing attain maturity and insight into the different gifts that each individual has been given. The way these artisitc students are headed, their potential to one day be drawing in the studio or riding " On The Tour Bus" is as promising as any future imaginable.

Jazz Band

you ever venture into the deep, dark basement of awam High, you may be lucky enough to hear some he musical stylings of our own AHS Jazz Band. This usive band consists of a group of AHS's most talented musicians who are required to audition in order to e part in the band. The musicians were selected to be rt of the ensemble depending on their musical ability. Jazz Band consists of very gifted trumpet, trombone, ophone, drum, guitar, and piano players. It is a great for these students to display these musical talents to r peers each year. " These musicians are not only very nted, but extremely impressive as well," says new Jazz d Director Ms. Funk-Olin. They performed at band certs and also competed in state Jazz Band competi- s. A familiar piece to all of us, " Jingle Bells," is one he group's favorite pieces that they perform every year he Winter Arts Festival. Because of their hard work and ication, the Jazz Band receives high ranks and awards very competition that they enter.

Instrumentalists, including Jeremy Skiba, n Corbin, Chris Lizotte and Nick Jacks, took the crowd urprise with their talented renditions of songs from ps such as Phish, Pink Floyd, and Iron Maiden. iliar faces pleased the crowd like always, such as ie Cullen when she broke out with " Breakaway," and e Wills as she performed a soulful Joss Stone song. e was also fresh new talent introduced, like freshman t Longhi, who received a standing ovation for lking in Memphis." Jessica Saimeri and Meghan Little performed, singing an amazing duet with Sarah achlan's " Angel." The sold out show also featured e outstanding dancing to songs such as " Janie's Got n," from the members of choreography. It was a great t and everyone involved worked really hard to make ecial. There were some technical difficulties, but that 't stop pros such as Aaron Hibbert and his crew, or in Belden and Kat Lynch, as the whole audience joined s they sang " The Yellow Submarine." This year's fall 40 really exhibited the talent that the students of wam High possess and it was a great night for ormers and spectators alike.

Choreography

They're all smiles when it comes to Choreography.

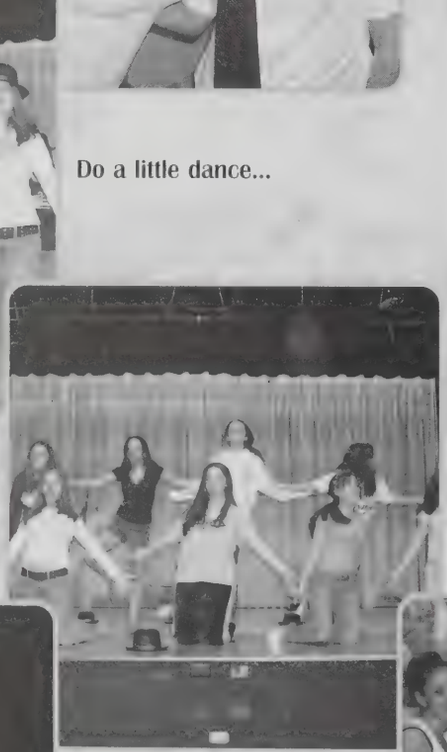

They smile on and off the stage.

This year's choreography class was led by a new add to AHS, Ms. Funk-Olin. Choreography is offered as a year elective for those who have a passion for dancing is composed of a number of seniors, juniors, sophome and freshmen. With Ms. Funk-Olin's help, these tale girls put together some amazing dances that they formed at the Top 40 and Vaudeville shows throughout year. These artistic performers make up some of dances themselves, while Ms. Funk-Olin teaches the some of her own moves. They perform everything alternative to hip-hop. These talented groups of girls skilled enough to synchronize their dance moves to the of the music, while moving together at the same time. That Jazz," jazzy hat dances, and " Goodies," an up-beat hop dance, are just a few of the selections that choreo phy put on this year. All of the girls agree that this is not only extremely fun, but also a very rewarding beca they form unforgettable friendships and memories that last them a lifetime.

Clubs... "Out and About"

In order to receive the benefits of the complete high school experience, a student's school activities may often extend well beyond the limits of the time they spend in school from 7:30 to 2:00 o'clock. In order to receive a full and well-rounded education, many of Agawam High's young men and women stay after hours to participate in various activities that are not only educational, but fun as well. These clubs cater to the interests of each student, as every individual may choose what is right for them. The students and advisors who take part in extracurricular school activities can always be found " Out and About," pursuing all of the diverse interests that make up Agawam High School.

Academic Decathlon

" I am Math God, hear me roar!"

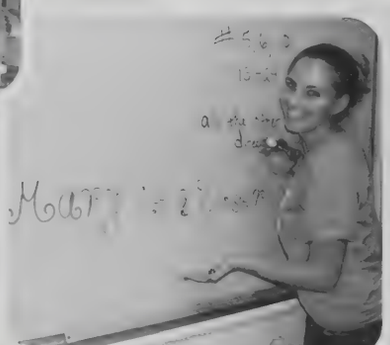

Math, Speech, Essay, Interview, History, Science, Literature...these are just some of the subjects that the brainiacs of the Academic Decathlon study. Meeting after school and studying on their own, the students of the Academic Decathlon prepare for the ten-subject test in November, which will provide them with knowledge and a chance for medals. Karen Gottardi admits, "Academic Decathlon is the ultimate intellectual extracurricular activitiy, and that is why Mr. Trahan is our advisor." So if you think you have what it takes--time, intelligence, dedication, skill, and the desire to eat free food--then the Academic Decathlon is right for you. Just be ready to study hard and ready to compete!

" Gambling? Uh...no we were just practicing our math skills with these number cards."

American Field Service

Beth, Erika, and Jordan get together to plan out this year's activities.

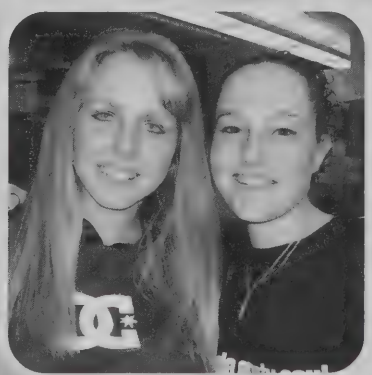

Diana and Krystal love AFS.

AFS, or American Field Service, is an organization that allows students between the ages of fifteen and nineteen to pursue an education in a foreign country. The co-Presidents, Jordan Frederick, Erika Prouty, and Emily Siedlik, along with Student Liaisons Glenna Brooks and Rebecca Rosenberg, help advisor Señora Bruce run the club's meetings and activities. This year Agawam welcomed student Diana Domjan from Hungary. Throughout the year, AFS members keep busy with many activities, such as parking cars at the Agawam Middle School during the Big E and hosting two Orientation Weekends, one in October and the other in February. So far Agawam has hosted over one hundred international students and has sent over forty Agawam students abroad.

Beth, Jeannine, and Nicole are looking forward to this year and meeting new people in AFS.

Art work can be made using all different types of media. Stippling is created using only a pen.

Animated, colorful, imaginative, and beautiful: the are just some of the words that come to mind wh thinking about the Art Club. This club is run by t creative, hardworking advisors, Mrs. Florek and M Waters. About fifty-five students stay after school tw a month to participate the art club. From drawing a painting to sculpting and sketching, there is alwa something creative to work on. The Art Club also hel paint sets for the school plays. The students work diligently on the 02-03 "Grease" and the 03-04 "Wiza of Oz" sets. The advisors believe that the addition of Club helps promote an appreciation for the values a skills students gain in their art classes, by encouragi them to continue their understanding of all art form

Career Center

Mark takes a break from delivering passes to smile for the camera

The Career Center, located next to the Guidance Office, offers an excellent opportunity for students to explore various career paths. Mrs. Mackler, the Career Center Facilitator, places students in internships, and requires students to "try out" for positions before they are placed. This insures their career choice is a match. If you would like to be a lawyer, mayor, teacher, TV weather forecaster, or physical therapist, this program will set your career on the right path. Internships give students the chance to gain workplace skills while simultaneously receiving school credit. Internships can be paid, unpaid, in-school, or out of school. These internships are considered significant assets by employers and college personnel and can be used on college applications, scholarships, employment applications, and resumes. In addition, the Career Center arranges Job Shadow experiences where students can gain experience and a more knowledgeable grasp of career requirements.

Richard and Josh are real excited about the new camera.

High school is one of the most important steps in life to prepare yourself for the future. Some of the students here at Agawam High have gotten a personal head start on their future career goals. The members of Career Technology, also known as "Collab," spend half of their day at Agawam High concentrating on their academics, and the other half at Lower Pioneer Valley Education Cooperative. At Collab, they take vocational training courses to help them prepare for work directly after graduation. Students can choose from a wide variety of career training programs, such as Computer Aided Drafting, Food Production, Carpentry, Landscaping, and Fashion Trades. Career Tech is a great opportunity for students to begin working in their field and gain knowledge before graduating from high school.

Future Teachers of America

Advisor Signor Orefice sometimes wonders about our future teachers.

Ever wonder what some of your teachers were like in high school? I can bet some of them acted very much like the members of Future Teachers of America. The students in this club plan to become the inspiration for future school systems. With the help of their advisor, Signor Orefice, the group engaged in numerous activities to help raise money for senior scholarships. Additionally, FTA organized the blood drive, sold candy, and was responsible for the head to head competition of the classes in the annual Penny War. Besides fundraising, these young minds of the world gained personal teaching experience during Shadow Day when they spent a day shadowing a teacher to see what it's like to interact with kids. Blood drive coordinator Stacy Boisvert, says, "It's good fun with good people, and it helps enhance the teacher inside you." This club is strongly recommended to anyone who would like to help make a difference or pursue a life-long career in teaching.

Over 90% of LGBT youth report that they sometimes or frequently hear homophobic remarks in their school.

Lesbian and gay youth are 2-6 times more likely to attempt suicide.

50% of all gay and lesbian youth report that their parents reject them due to their sexual orientation.

22.2% skipped school in the past month because they felt unsafe at school.

Gay students hear anti-gay slurs at often as 26 times each day.

Gay and lesbian youth live, work, and attempt to learn in constant fear of physical harm at school.

Gays and lesbians are the most frequent victims of hate crimes.

Teenage students (gay and straight) say the worst harassment in school is being called "gay."

28% are forced to drop out.

0. Gay, lesbian, and bisexual youth make up 20-40% of homeless youth.

Under the leadership of Ms.Wright and Ms. Shockey, the members of the Gay/Straight Alliance took the initiative to educate Agawam High about the diverse population that exists not only in our school, but also in the entire world. The goal was to rid the school of homosexual stereotypes and promote unity. This year, the Gay/Straight Alliance held the annual "Pride" week in which students at AHS learned about the diverse population in their school and also learned about the significant negative impact stereotyping and homophobia have on others.

Makes A Difference

General Abrams Library

Greg turns into a bookworm at the library.

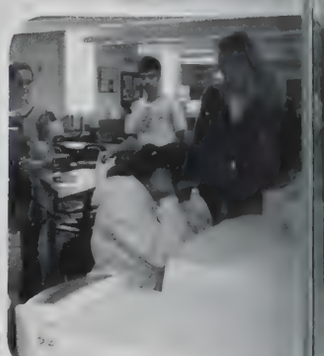

Anyone need a book?

Libraries are the key to education. Sometimes people j can't find the right kind of place to study or do resear General Abrams Library is centrally located in the schoo provide easy access for everyone. It consists of many spa zones, reference materials, and nonfiction sections. It a has a large area of shelving space available, which can n fit 31,000 volumes. Students come in to do research, th homework, or they come in just to enjoy a quiet place to re a book. There is even a special room where teachers c preview class videos and prepare lesson plans. The libr also contains a smart board and divided sections which f full classes, one partial class, and independent students a teachers can use to their advantage. So, if you are looki for a place to study or just to get some work done, vi General Abrams Library.

Intergenerational Book Club

Mary is warming up for her in-depth analysis...

nhhh... book club is now in session. This year, Madame Kundl did an excellent job taking over rgenerational Book Club for retired Mrs. Poulin. The nbers of the club met once a month to discuss the ure reading of the month. The discussion was an open m where teachers and students shared their ideas feelings about the novel. They both had the opportu- to make suggestions about what book they wanted to l , but ultimately, Madame Kundl had the final say. The inci Code topped the reading list this year. This book such a hit, it left standing room only the afternoon of discussion.

I came prepared- here are my questions!

Was that really funny? I don't get it...

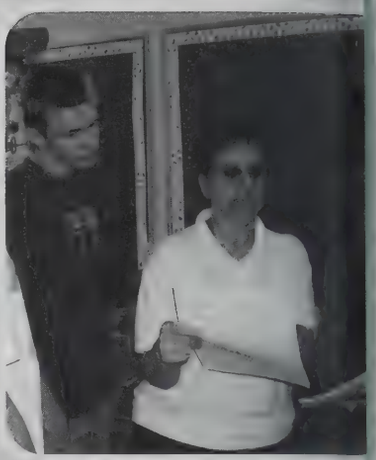

ooks like everyone read this book...

Now, let's think, what would you do if you were in this character's position?

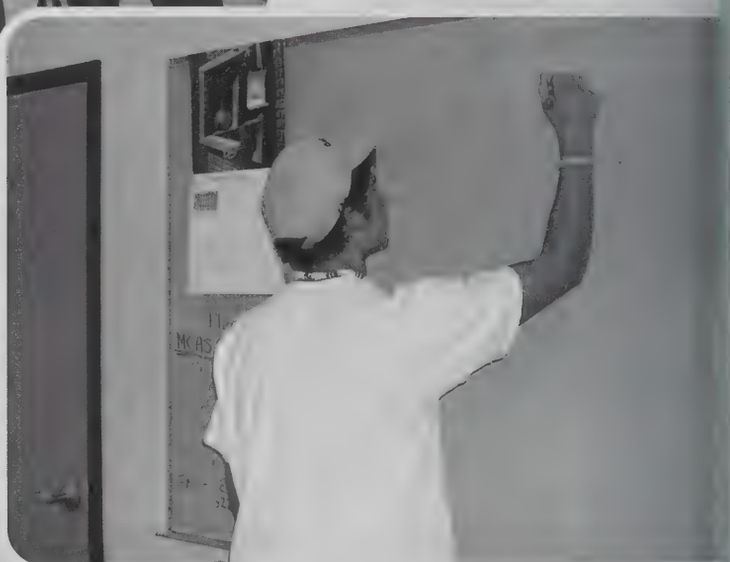

Math Team

C'mon people...order of operations, you know this!

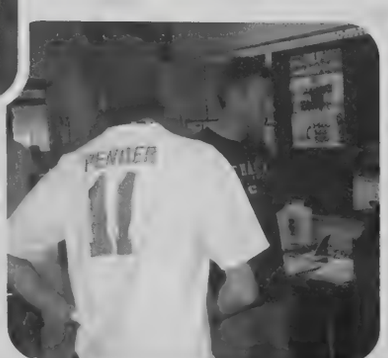

Arithmetic, Algebra I and II, Geometry, Trigonometry, Complex Numbers... most students dread the thought of having to deal with these subjects in school. The members of the Math Team, however, spend not only their time in school, but also time after school studying the intriguing formulas, techniques, and styles of the complex mathematical world. With six players to a team and each player involved in three events, this year's students competed with schools from all over western Mass. Kevin Pender comments, " Being a part of Math Team has given me a chance to compete against great mathematical minds from all over the area." So here's the equation: Studying + Fun + Teamwork = Math Team. On Math Team, you can have your "pi" and eat it too.

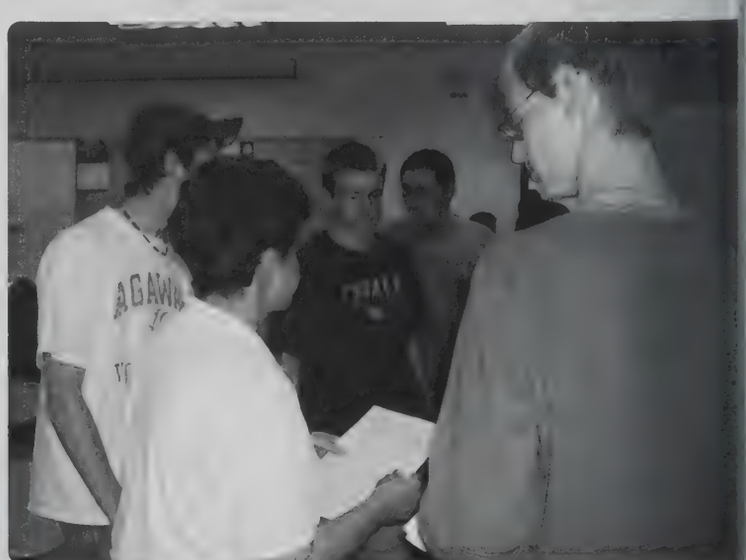

Jordan handles 'cosine' like he's Chief Soh-Cah-Toa.

Mirror

The fearless editors of our school newspaper.

Keeley is working hard to finish up her article.

Matt and Jen are content with how the newspaper came out.

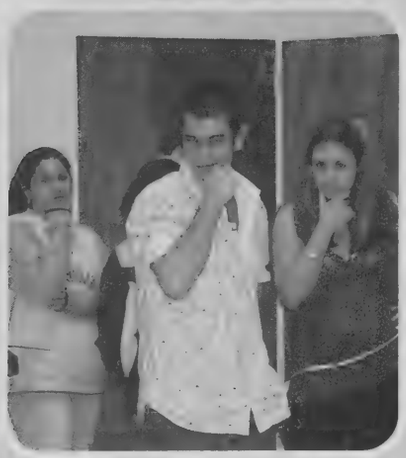

ley and Erika
e a little too ted about the paper...

Reading The Mirror is a great way to find out what's going on around AHS. Advisor Ms. Mersack ran the school newspaper this year with Editor-in-Chief, Matthew Sadowski, and Associate Editor, Christina Graziano to help her keep things under control. These talented students, along with numerous others, worked together to make sure that the newspaper was off to a great start. With Kristen Pfau as News Editor, Amy Osgood as Entertainment Editor, Jennifer Sacco as Feature Editor, Bryan Lane as Sports Editor, Jennifer Montagna as Ads Manager, and Corinne Cardin as Photography Editor, the newspaper took on a whole new look. The students on The Mirror staff put a lot of hard work and dedication into putting together a newspaper that not only the students would enjoy, but the faculty as well. Hours of research, time, and effort were poured into the newspaper to make it up-beat and interesting. This is the third year that the talented group has formatted on their own and not used the assistance of an experienced company. Using the Adobe program, the class sent their proofed articles to the printing company. The writers acted as real journalists and had to track down the "celebrities" that were featured.

Model Congress

Our next legislators.

These girls are all about peace when it comes to Model Congress.

This year Mr. Feeley and Mrs. Ashton took over for retire
Morse and " laid down the law" to teach students about w going on outside of AHS. Model Congress is a great way to about our government and how it works. By using the Consti and other important political documents, they debate and di different areas of the government. This group of students actively involved each year by participating in the annual Congress Conference held at AIC. By participating in this students get a chance to see how a debate works and hav opportunity to write their own bills. Will the bills pass or not don't know yet, but what we do know is the students who a this conference not only get a better understanding abou government, but also may be eligible for scholarships ava only through this club.

This is a crazy bunch of kids!

Why is Mrs. Ashton so excited?

Order in Model Congress!

National Honor Society

Here's Joe, Jon, and Kurt fooling around during the meeting!

IS is a group of seniors who exhibit academic and personal excellence. Along with keeping up their es, students must also serve the community. This NHS volunteered at the Agawam Lions' Club during ig E, helped out at the Fall Festival for the Smart Start School, and also helped with the book sale for the ds of the Agawam Public Library. Students have also cipated in many other activities , such as the Rays of Breast Cancer Walk in October and the Toy for Joy . They ran the school's talent show for scholarships were in charge of the senior t-shirts. This year's NHS ers were President Jordan Frederick, Vice President an Pfau, Secretary Alyssa Zmaczynski, Treasurer n Pender, and Sergeant-at-Arms Nick Alvanos.

French and Spanish NHS

Alyssa and Beth smile at the thought of how much they are decreasing the world's language barrier.

These girls have b enhanced with cult e.

There are many different cultures and languages that we need to be aware of throughout the world. Learning a new language can be very hard, but for the students of the French and Spanish NHS, it comes naturally. In order to be a member, the students must have at least a 90 average, a teacher recommendation, and also need to have taken Spanish IV or V. The students are under the leadership of Señora Sasso, honorary Spanish advisor, and Madame Kundl, honorary French advisor. This National Honor Society consists of students who show advanced understanding in reading, writing, and speaking either of the two languages. When new members are inducted in the spring, the current members run the ceremony and congratulate the upcoming enthusiastic group. Spanish NHS member Amy Osgood commented, " I'm so proud to be a part of such elite Spanish-speaking students." Bethany Garvin, a French NHS member, stated, "This is a great organization which allows the students to expand their minds beyond the US to enable them to learn more about different cultures."

Clarkie becomes overpowered with the Spanish language.

Jess and Ang give French two thumbs up.

Peer Leadership

The enthusiastic group of Peer officers.

We're working hard on this poster....really!

What percentage of Americans actually wear seatbelts? How many high school students are regular users of alcohol? Peer Leadership is a group that gets together to raise awareness about drugs, alcohol, drunk driving, and seatbelt safety. Members of this group must sign a contract vowing to stay drug and alcohol free, as well as take part in a mandatory training class. Grim Reaper Day, the Mock Accident, and the Great American Smoke Out are some of the activities that kept them busy this year. They raised money by running Costume Day on Halloween and also traveled to the Junior High School to influence students not to get involved with drinking and drugs. Peer Leaders care about what their fellow students are doing and set an admirable example for all.

Taking a break from the hard work.

We're trying to think here!

Ally is smiling because she is smoke-free!

Peer Mediation

I wonder what these guys are up to...

If you ever have a problem, don't be shy- ask the Peer Mediators for help! Peer Mediation is " the process by which students solve problems," according to Mr. Figy. Student mediators go through a three-day training program in which they learn how to mediate other students' problems and help their peers get through difficult times. Mr. Figy receives referrals about students in need of assistance and peer mediators step up to solve the dilemmas. Students who participate in Peer Mediation begin when they are in junior high and continue to play a role as a mediator when they get to high school. Being a mediator is a valuable life skill that is beneficial to the " real world." " Being a Peer Mediator is something that I am very proud of. The ability to reason with people is an important skill to possess and Peer Mediation is a very gratifying program to be a part of," affirms Gina Graziano.

Peer Tutoring

Tammy and Julianne are fascinated with the wonders of education.

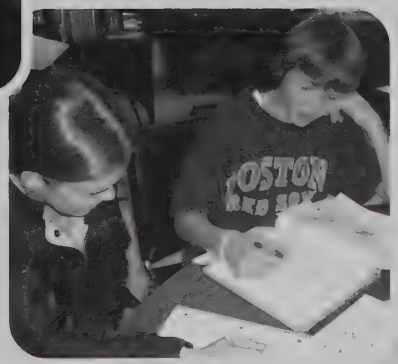

Sometimes academics are a struggle. Do you ever feel like sometimes you just don't get it? Well, maybe all you need is a helping hand. Peer Tutoring is always there to give you just that. The student tutors work after school to help struggling students reach their academic potential. This free program allows students to work in a relaxed, professional, and comfortable environment . As an incentive, the program also enables students the chance to earn bonus points in their classes. It doesn't matter if you are struggling in a College-Prep or an AP course; the volunteers are there to help without making you feel intimidated. Advisor Mr. Cohen comments, " It is a positive adventure, a win-win situation." Peer Tutoring is a great way to meet people while receiving the help you need. The Peer Tutors even shared their motto with us: " Helping: it's what we do!"

Peer Tutoring is fun for everyone.

Rachel and Marissa love Integrated Math!

Renaissance

What club in school has the most students? The answer: Renaissance! Headed by Mr. Dutton and a variety of students, this organization honors those students who do well in school. This year a few minute changes have occurred: a Silver card and Platinum card were added to go along with the accustomed Gold Card to praise a wider range of the student body. Each semester a breakfast is planned and held for about 400 students who are eligible. The Club also sponsors the impressive Student of the Month award and works hard in conjunction with the PTSO. This year they even decided to hand out ice cream sandwiches on the first day of school, which was a treat for everyone. And don't forget the famous exam exemptions, which is a nice incentive after working hard all year long!

Robotics

/orking on building this robot from scratch.

This year's Rosie Robotics club is led by none other than Mr. Burns. They meet about one to two times a week. The club is set up just like a business, with Kristopher Kelly acting as President. With his help and the help of the forty other members, the Robotics Club has won many awards this year. They received the Kleiner Perkins Caufield and Byers Entrepreneurship Award along with the Diamler Chrysler Team Spirit Award. The Robotics Club does not only excel with inventing and building things, but they succeed in acting as a team. " Many of our awards are based on the structure of our team, as well as our team spirit at competitions," said Kristopher Kelly. For the yearly competition the team is given six weeks to build a robot, which must pass strict guidelines and follow all of the rules. The Robotics Team also holds many fundraisers, such as ziti dinners and an annual golf tournament each year. This club can teach you not only career skills, but life skills as well, such as leadership, teamwork, organization, and responsibility.

S.A.V.E.

The members of S.A.V.E really get into recycling... literally.

" Captain Planet is our hero! "

Did you know that Americans buy 62 million newspape everyday and throw out 44 million? That's the equivale of dumping 500,000 trees into a landfill every week. Well, you are at all concerned about the environment or would ju like to help make a difference, then talk to the members S.A.V.E.- Students Against Violating the Environment. Th hold meetings to try to control what is being recycled in o school system. S.A.V.E. takes little steps, such as setting u recycling centers, and increasing the number of very usef blue bins in the school. They are also concerned with plant a animal life, as well as the tiny things that are important in o environment. Next time you need to dispose of your tras make sure to place papers, plastics, and cans in their prop place. If everyone in the U.S. recycled just 1/10 of the newsprint, we would save an estimated equivalent of about 2 million trees a year. You have to start somewhere, so jo S.A.V.E. because the little things you do definitely add up!

Advisor Ms. Bertone-Gross thinks it is important to save our environment.

Remember that the little things you do add up.

Shakespeare Society

Double, double toil and trouble;
Fire burn and cauldron bubble.

hakespeare Society is a group of mostly senior students interested in William Shakespeare and the any accomplishments he achieved throughout his etime. It exists not only as a club, but is actually corporated into the AP English 12 curriculum. Stu- nts act out skits in other English classes, play daily via, and set up the school-wide contest for the best illetin board honoring the Bard himself. Usually ery year a Shakespeare Assembly is presented during hool for all to see; the students involved rewrite some their favorite Shakespearean adventures. Held ring the school year, Shakespeare Week includes a nch menu representing different plays and various ntests for all the Shakespeare buffs. At the end of the hool year a banquet is held for its members by the visors as a reward for putting forth so much time and fort.

Sign Language Club

Think about how many times a day people use their voices and ears. You don't realize it, but almost every way we communicate with each other requires us to speak and listen. For some people, the gift of normal speech is something that they will never have. Communication is taken to a whole new level for the deaf people of the world. The members of the Sign Language Club get together to discuss and try to understand the deaf. They learn how to speak with their hands and feel with their hearts. Coming together to appreciate the types of hardships that deaf people go through, these students show that they care and want to understand the minds of the hearing impaired. So, if you are looking for a whole new way to communicate and understand people, the Sign Language Club is right for you.

We love Sign Language!

Did you want me to smile?

This is the sign for devil.

I am so confused!

Student Government

ud to be in Student Government.

Working hard... or hardly working?

This year's Student Government was led by the one and only Mrs. Mouneimneh. With the help of officers Cali Longtin, Gina Graziano, and Abriana Spagnoli, the organization ran smoothly. They met every two weeks to work hard on improving the little details students complain or worry about. They put ideas into motion and according to Gina Graziano, " It is a great way for people in our school to come together for a common cause." This year they attended Leadership Day at Bay Path College to exchange ideas with others and to learn more about how to run a student government. One of their yearly fundraisers is Hat Day, from which the money goes directly to the Open Pantry. They also work in conjunction with Civics Honors to broaden the spectrum of the group. The club also participated in the Western Massachusetts Regional Student Council, where they had the chance to work with the state department of education in order to investigate old laws as well as pass new ones. In addition, they run the class elections each year.

These kids are planning to reform the school.

Megan and Brittany are ready to make a difference.

Cali takes charge as President.

Uniqorn

The most creative group in the school.

Mrs. Hines loves her poetry.

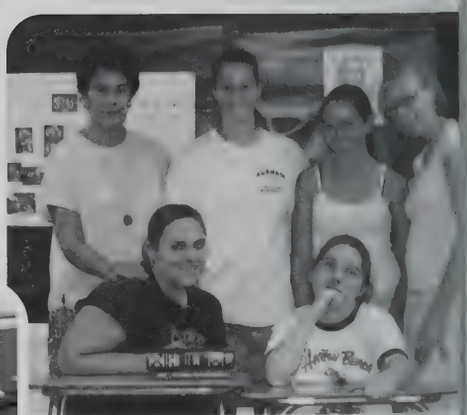

Uniqorn is AHS' literary magazi containing short stories, art, graphic and photography, composed by students ninth through twelfth grade. From the Ash was the title for this year's award-winni magazine. Students who wish to can drop c their literary work in the library where it collected by the Uniqorn staff. The piece then edited and judged by the entire staff, ar is taken into consideration to appear in th next issue. Two issues are produced throug out the year, one in December and the oth in May. Mrs. Hines runs the group, which th year included fifteen students. Co-editors Ti Welch and Alycia Cove worked well with Ass ciate Editor Jeannine Hastings to meet dea lines on time and to make sure all went we This was the first year that the magazine wa produced in color. The Uniqorn can b purchased in Mrs. Hines room for $2, whic helps support their annual Scholarship fun

They're all smiles when it comes to Uniqorn

Poetry Club

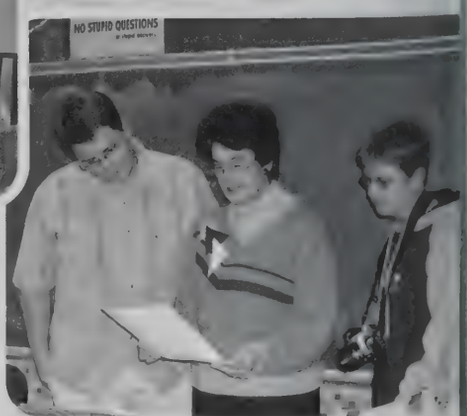

Cinquains, ballads, haikus, and sonnets are just a few examples of the types of poetry that were written in Poetry Club this year. Headed by Mrs. Hines, Poetry Club is a great place to bring poetic inventions and share them with others who pursue the same passion. This club is an excellent way to express oneself through poetry because there are no rules when it comes to writing poetry. Writing a short story or a meaningful poem is considered a form of art to these talented students. The Poetry Club is also a great way for the students of AHS to get noticed and recognized as poets. With the help of the Uniqorn, the school's literary magazine, some of the students this year had their poems and short stories published. " It's been a great experience, and I hope future members feel the same," says senior Caroline Elkins. The poems created in Poetry Club are unforgettable, along with the friendships created as well.

The Edgar Allan Poes of the future.

Caroline is brainstorming her next masterpiece.

Weight Room

Which way to the beach? Just ask any of the students or faculty who take advantage of Agawam High's very own weight room. Before and after school the back gym is open to anyone looking to work out and get in shape. You can do squats, curls, bench presses, or whatever fits your physical form. Whether you are a serious athlete or just looking to burn some calories after a filling lunch, go check it out. Coaches Benjamin and Pryce are familiar faces to the weight room, so if you have any questions don't be afraid to talk to them. If you want to work out, stay healthy, or just try to get buff for that certain someone, then visit the weight room. You don't even need to sign up or have a membership to use this Gym!

Hey boys, check us out!

My legs are feelin' the burn.

Mat is the Incredible Hulk!

Athletes In Motion

Mr. Conte delivers his motivational speech to the athletes.

What better advisors could you have than these three?

Athletes In Motion has made a few changes this year. For instance, Coach Pryce and Mrs. Hall have taken over the organization of this motivated group. The point of AIM is to get student athletes involved with their community and to help out where they are needed. This year AIM helped to rake leaves in town and visited the Agawam/West Springfield Open Pantry. Next year, they hope to add a Student Council of twelve students, who will get together once a week and discuss topics such as eligibility, grades, equipment costs, and other issues that have to do with athletics.

What could possibly be better than a breathtaking yearbook to remember our high school memories? Even though we are moving forward, an important part of our lives is bound inside of this remarkable book. The 2004-2005 edition was created by a group of hardworking, disciplined seniors who poured their heart and soul into putting it together. Not only in class, but also outside as well, this collection of students came together to get through the smooth times, as well as rough, to build this outstanding masterpiece.

The leaders of this project were co-editors Vanessa Tencati and Kelly Follis. Unlike most of the staffers, their experience began at the WNEC yearbook conference in May 2004. Immediately afterward they started working on the theme and continued to lay out plans over the summer. Once school was in session, they made sure that everything was running smoothly between staffs and also set the majority of the deadlines. Working individually, Vanessa did the bulk of the editing, while Kelly spent most of her time working on extra layouts. Together, however, the two girls were an excellent team and helped each other out, especially during those late nights before important deadlines.

Remember those two exceptionally nice girls who sold you your keepsake yearbook? They would be Katie Gorman and Amanda Borden, the business staff, who came to school early to take those checks and file them away. Selling yearbooks, handling the money for senior salutes, and organizing the salute pages kept them busy. Their incredible math skills also came in handy when they took care of miscellaneous yearbook business.

" Where's my staff?" A common phrase heard numerous times a day from Literary Editor Alyssa Zmaczynski! Most of the time Kiar O'Brien, Sue Jenney, and Gina Gessay were in the library, which became the lit staff's second home. There they typed up senior kits and senior salutes, wrote colorful articles, and thought up dazzling captions for just about every picture in the yearbook. However, it was definitely not easy... missing disks, broken disks, disks stuck in the computer—well, disks in general always posed a problem! Without the aid of the librarians Mrs. Mokrzycki and Mrs. Montagna, their job would have been ten times more complicated. Despite all the barriers, the literary and sports staff wrote every word seen in the book and did some staff bonding in between.

Speaking of sports, athletes themselves, Matt Sadowski and Leah Cook, spent most of their time in Mr. Conte's office retrieving rosters and team lists and running around chasing captions for quotes. In their spare time they wrote exciting, enjoyable write-ups about the different seasons. They had most of their fun trying to decipher which athlete was in every picture! In the beginning of the year they had the chance to be part of the literary staff as they assisted in typing up the infamous senior kits and tallying class favorites.

Who are those girls with the fancy cameras at every possible school event? Why, the photography staff, of course! Editor Jamie Spear kept busy with Heather Burgen, Jeannine Hastings, and Amanda Dupre, figuring out who was going to this game or that concert, or trying to schedule time with clubs to take photos of the various faces of Agawam High. They were constantly competing as to who could take the best pictures, but in th end they could agree that everyone had their good photos, and unfortunately a few bad photos as well. Jamie picked the best, however, that would be displayed among the pages of the book. These girls did not just work on their own, however. The Steinmetz crew was an immense help not only to get them started, but also to help taking some astounding pictures included in the yearbook. With two cameras, this energetic crew of photographers was always on the go with specific places to be!

" Would you like to buy an ad for the Agawam High School yearbook?" That's one question that the ads staff must be sick of asking! Editor Dan Higgins, along with staffers Caleigh Ferguson, Bethany Garvin, and Dave Zaffetti, drove off during seventh period every day with one thing in mind: to sell some ads! They entered each store with confidence, and with last year's first-rate yearbook tucked under someone's shoulder. Of course, they made the occasional coffee break, but they made lots of money to make the production of the yearbook possible.

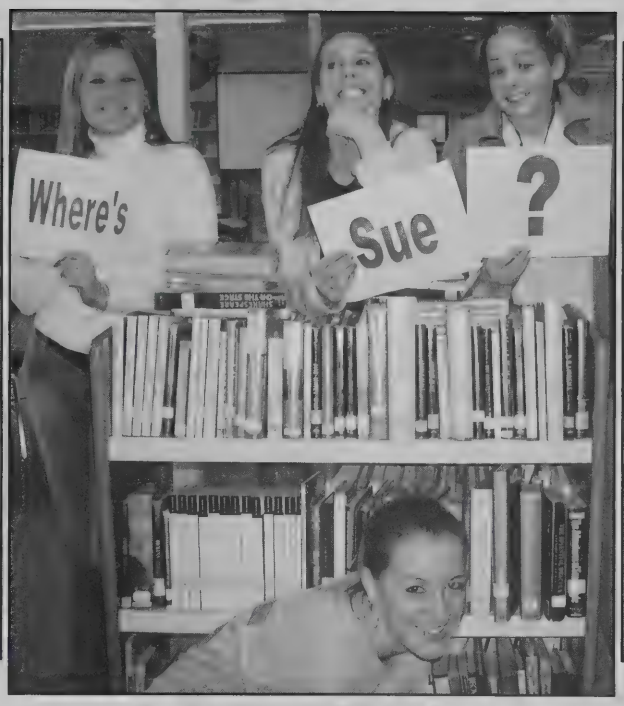

Maria Santaniello, the layout editor, could always be found glued to a computer in the back of the room cropping pictures and making sure all the words fit to a page. Her staff, Jackie Geoghean, Barbar Brizzolari, Meghan O'Brien, and Michelle Cadieux, Staff Artist, worked extremely hard every day during class and most days after school, too. Sizing pictures for senior salutes and searching for the lit staff's disks took up a lot of time! Once they finished the layouts on the computer, they printed them out and packaged each one individually to send it off to Jostens.

Despite all the hard work and frustration, all the yearbook staff members will remember it as an awesome experience. Throughout the journey we became close like family, as we struggled with adjusting to deadlines and procedures, and rejoiced in success when the final book arrived. To keep pushing us forward and guiding us through the fog was Christine Kolodziej, our beloved yearbook advisor. Whenever a seemingly impossible task came about, she always knew how to fix it or work around it! Without her, none of this would have been possible. Eventually, a striking yearbook was produced, one that will hopefully stay in our suitcases as we travel on, and remind us of these four amazing years, as we move forward on the roads of our lives.

hopeful smiles, the Business staff takes on everything with confidence.

Where's Sue? Wait...isn't the Literary staff supposed to be writing?

Being on Sports staff means more than just writing stories...

first! Dan and Beth review how to put on a seatbelt.

Always trying to design fresh and original layouts, the co-editors Kelly and Vanessa turn to past yearbooks for help.

" We can't wait to leave school and just drive!"

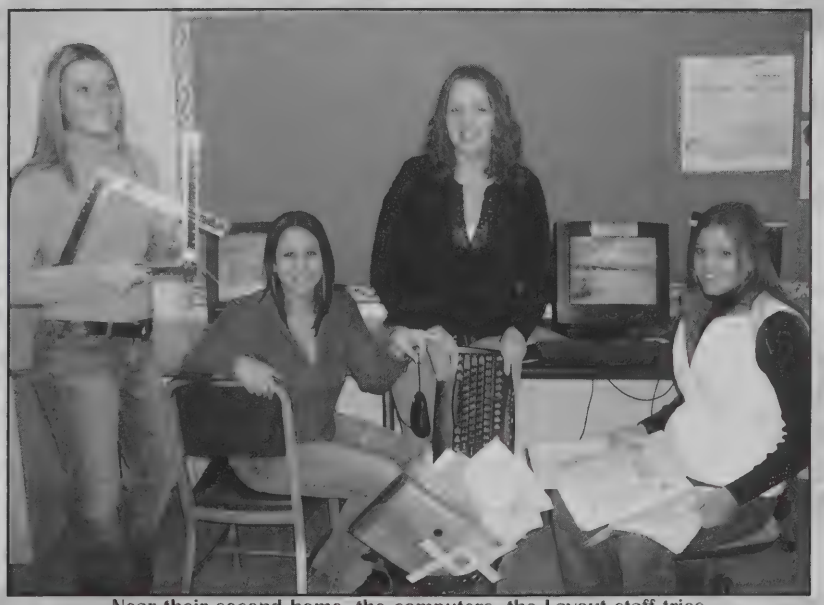

ng a break, these girls on Photography show off their latest works of art!

Why aren't you three working on tomorrow's deadline?

The Ads staff is once again on another mission!

Near their second home, the computers, the Layout staff tries not to get too frustrated!

THINKING OF HOME

KIRSTEN E. PATRICK

Dear Kirsten,

How time has flown. It seems like only yesterday that you were born in a January snowstorm, and now you are about to embark on the journey of your life. It's difficult to even contemplate letting you go out on your own, but reason tells us that you are prepared and very capable of taking on the world. We have confidence in you and your ability to succeed in whatever you decide to do. Dad and I have watched you grow into a beautiful young woman with a mind of your own (that much has never changed, only developed and molded your personality).

We love you more than words can thoroughly express. There have been both good times, and those inevitable rough times with all their growing pains. Together we've seen them through and we're all stronger and closer because of them. You have taught us more than we will ever teach you. So, dearest daughter, open the door and soar to new heights knowing that the sky is yours for the wonder and the thrill. Always remember, we'll be by your side if you ever need us.

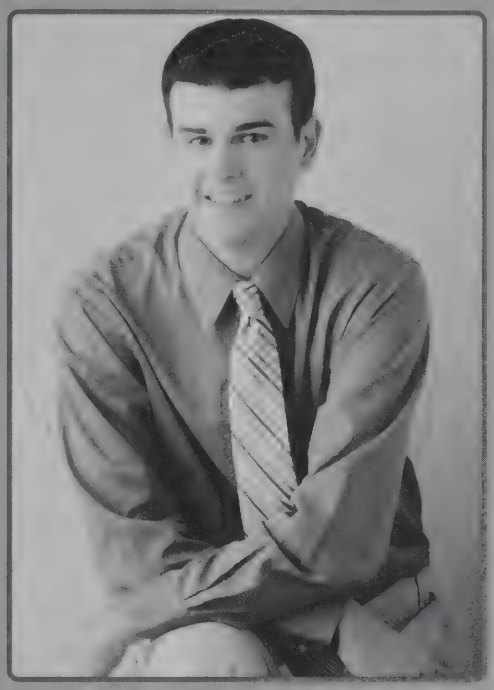

Love,
Mom and Dad

Michael Thompson

Dear Michael,

From the day you were born, you have awed and inspired us. We knew you were special. You filled our hearts with so much love, pride and joy. Believe in yourself. Continue to make wise choices and you will accomplish all your dreams. We are so proud of the young man you have become.

We will be here for you – always.

Congratulations Buddy!!

Love,
Mom and Dad

Meko,

Over the past four years you've grown so much as a person. You've helped me through a lot and I thank you for that. We haven't always been the best of friends, but you're still my brother and I love you. You're an amazing goalie, and a wonderful person.

Love,
Heather

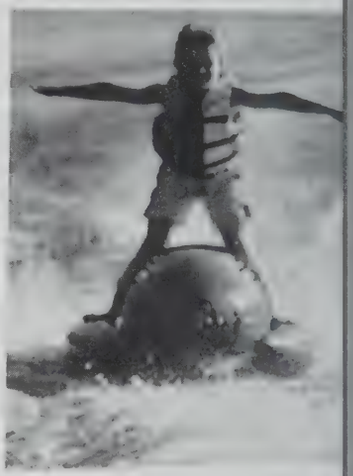

JEFF LAGASSE

Jeff Lagasse

Jeff;

Don't ever forget that you are unique.
You have been blessed with unique talents and abilities.
Find your strengths and use them in a positive way.
Don't be content with average because average is just as close to the bottom as it is to the top.

Just as important as the lessons that you've learned in the classroom are the ways that you've grown as a person:

The friendships you have made
The challenges and obstacles you overcame with energy and enthusiasm
The deeper understanding you have acquired of yourself

Don't listen to those who ridicule the good choices you make.
Travel the road that you have chosen and don't look back with regret.
Take chances and work hard to make your dreams happen.
Something valuable will be learned from everything you do so don't be afraid to make mistakes.

Make friends with those who respect you for yourself.

As you celebrate this milestone in your life and look towards the future, never forget what has brought you this far.

The love and support of your family and friends.

Your own sacrifice and hard work.

And don't ever forget that you are special and very much loved.

Mom, Dad, Paul

Kelly Anne Follis

Kelly, I've watched you grow into a beautiful, intelligent woman over the years. God gave you a gift of a loving personality with a winning smile. May you achieve everything your heart desires. You have the drive and stamina to stand on your own and wherever you are I have the confidence you will be the best you can be.

We love you,

Aunt Cindy and Uncle Jim

Kelly, in 17 years you've gotten me in trouble, got better grades than me, and even got a car before I did. Even so, I believe you'll be the best person you can be, and you can achieve anything you want. By the way, can I borrow your car?

Love,

Mike

Kelly, I can't begin to tell you how proud I am of you. From the time you took your first steps you reached for the stars–diving in the pool for the first time, Project See, taking a difficult class, running for class office, trying out for varsity, getting your first job, becoming a lifeguard– . I watched your excitement as these things became real. When disappointment and obstacles came you fought through them. Kelly, keep reaching for the stars and don't let them slip away.

I love you.

Mom

Bethany E. Garvin

You have given us so much joy in the past 19 years. We love and respect all that you've done. May you continue on your road of life with the success you have had in your early years. Always reflect on your past, but look towards your future. May your future be filled with love, success and self-fulfillment. Remember your roots and make your own. Know that we will always be there for you, but we want you to fly. Remember to enjoy life along the way. Bethany, you have such an awesome school record and you are so motivated in everything you do. I admire that in you. Greg, you care so much about your family and friends, you will succeed in whatever you do. Stay strong, stay close and remember we love you.

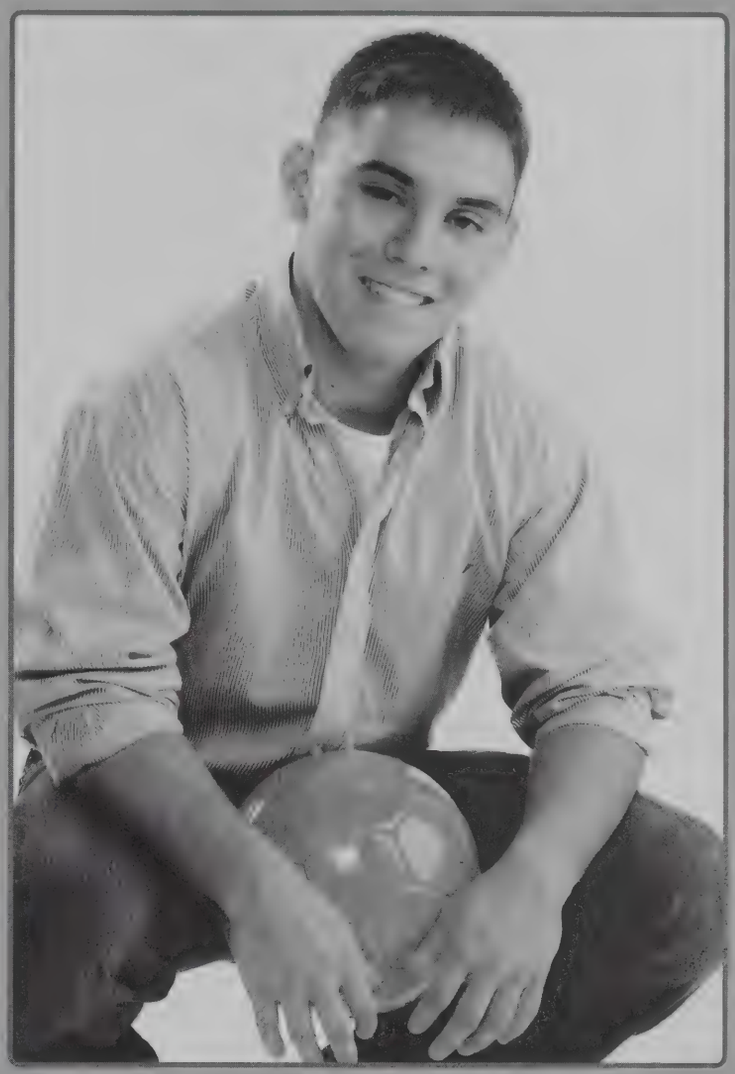

Mom and Dad

Daniel J. Cosgrove

Daniel,

I remember your first smile, first step, first word.
What a joy to watch you grow!
How fast the time has gone.
Today, you are on the threshold of being a man. I am so proud of who you are.
Always strive to be the best you can be. God has given you great gifts.
In life, be strong, confident and most of all, be happy.
No matter where you are you will never be alone, my love will always be there.
I am so proud to have you as my son.
Always remember how much you are loved and how special you are.

Mom

Amber Mae Taylor

You are Unique

Like a single red rose among a dozen white
Your beauty shines thru the sunlight
Your uniqueness, purity & beauty has always set you apart
Because you give & live from your heart
Your beauty shows outward but comes from within
For you a new journey is about to begin
You can become anything you choose to be
We believe in you and this we say proudly
So many new choices now to pick from
We will always be here for you, your brothers, Dad & Mo
No matter what paths you may choose
Like your uniqueness our love you will never lose

How do I say in a minimum of words, all you brought to our lives. Hopes & dreams you've made come true. It feels like yesterday, we felt your tiny hands in ours. Walking & swinging you as you giggled. The twinkle in your eyes, the smiles & some tears. The eskimo kisses, that as you grew turned to butterfly ones. The times we gazed proudly like each year you danced. Watching you grow & changing from our baby girl to an intelligent, sensitive, beautiful young woman. Which only seems more clearly now. It's not easy to accept but we are trying. Though no matter how you grow or change in our hearts you will always be our baby girl (princess sunshine). In life if given the chance, we hope you dance.

We are so proud and love you always,

Mom, Dad, Brandon, & Corey

Rachel Mozdzanowski

ey,

ır father and I remember the day you were born, Tuesday, October 14, 1986 at 6:45 p.m. You were a happy oy who never slept. When you could sit up, you were content to smile and play with toys all day long. At months, we left my family in Houston, TX and relocated to Feeding Hills, MA. You would know your father's ıily and grow up with your 10 cousins. Your family and cousins loved you dearly and enjoyed playing with ı.

ore long, it was time for Kindergarten at PVCS. You adored your teacher, Mrs. Foss, and made friends ckly. Those friends are now seniors in high school. All too quickly, Middle School and Junior High came h more responsibility and interests in dance, ceramics, mime, church and school choir, guitar and voice sons. Those were exciting years watching you mature as you were growing and discovering your gifts and ents.

ese past four years of High School flew by with a flurry of activities, concerts, friends, parties, hopes and ams pondered, and skills assessed. We are proud of the lady you have become. You are using your gifts d talents God gave you to pursue a career in Fashion Merchandising and Marketing.

d has His hand upon your life guiding, protecting, and watching each step you take. Jeremiah 29:11-13 s, " For I know the plans I have for you, plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope d a future. Call upon me and I will listen to you. Seek me and you will find me when you seek me with of your heart." Continue to trust the Lord to guide you in each stage of life: college, career, marriage, and ıily.

Ve will always love you,

Mum and Dad

Love

Ashley,

From the first moment the nurse placed you in my arms, I loved you. You have been a constant source joy. I have watched you through all your firsts: first smile, first steps, first sleepover, first dance recital, fir date, first romance, first driving lesson.

There have been moments of sheer desperation – you have always been so fearless and I have been nervous. When you want something, you go after it with everything inside you. I have tried to protect yo guide you, listen to you, and just be there if things go wrong. My job has not always been easy but lookir at you now, I see that it is all worthwhile. I have sometimes wondered whether I have set the right examp and then I look at you and listen to you and I realize that for all my own doubts, you are incredible. I AM S PROUD OF YOU.

I wish for you great joy and happiness. I wish all your dreams to come true. I do not wish for you to hav a life without challenges for it is through challenges that dreams are forged into reality. You are ready to me life head on. As you have blessed my life, I wish children to bless yours. I will always be there for you.

I love you

Alyssa Zmaczynski

Alyssa,

You will always have a home in our hearts. Such an amazing daughter and sister with so many accomplishments. Dad had the time of his life helping you with marching band. We love you and would do anything for you. Good luck!

Mom + Dad

Alyssa,

I am so glad we were able to have one year together at A.H.S. Thank you for all of your help with Spanish. Congratulations!

I love you,

Alex

Michael Landry

Congratulations—you made it!! We are so proud of the fine, caring person you are. Wishing you life's best, Mike!

Love and support always,

Mom, Dad, Tracy & Katie

Melissa Jacobs

Remember that old crazy laugh that you have

Melissa's Nakita and 9 years of dance.

Remember your brother hanging out with your friends

Cool-whip and shaving cream and Ninja fly swatter with Dad

Memories can be forgotten and placed in the dark

But remember that love from your family is engraved in your heart.

Love, Mom, Dad and Mike

Alyse M. Mokrzycki

Alyse,
Make your own way in this world.
Listen to your heart.
To know where you are going
Is only part of it.
You need to know where you have been too.
If you ever get lost, don't worry.
The people who love you will find you.
Count on it.
You have become everything
We ever hoped for a daughter to be.
However, we must love our children enough to let them go,
But remember, in our hearts you will always
Be our little girl.
Congratulations - YOU DID IT!

Love you past the world -

What to say? You're the greatest sister I could ask for. So many jokes; Do you see what I see?, MaryKate and Ashley, Paris and Nicole, Stretchy, Random, Scummy, Little belly, more blackheads and Africa, Ragu, Hobbit feet, Afra, AAfrica, that's hot, and so many more. I'll miss the free rides to Patrick's house and the frozen windshield before school. I'll be an only child now, great. Now I can enjoy Sunday mornings, 64 degree houses, and "I didn't say you could get those!", "You bought them for me!" I know you'll miss Steamroller, Hitler, and the rareness of good food. Life is going to be a beast without you and well you've made it worth all the while. All I can say is...thanks.

Nicholas Alvanos

Nick's recipe for success:
Take a great sense of humor,
Mix in many friends along the way
Add equal parts leader, brother, and best friend
With some hard work every day
Gently stir in confidence
And a smile like the sun
Flavor with soccer, baseball, basketball,
Garnish with ultimate bonding for fun
Four years to be proud of, Nick
A recipe for success
Now the future is calling you to do great things,
Always remember, we think you're the best!

We're so proud of you Nick, not only for what you've accomplished,
But for the wonderful young man that you are!
Love, Mom & Dad

CONGRATS
CLASS OF 2005!

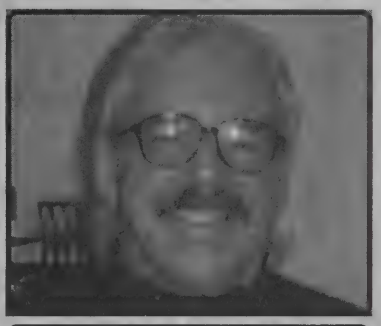

2005 Sachem Staff Thanks

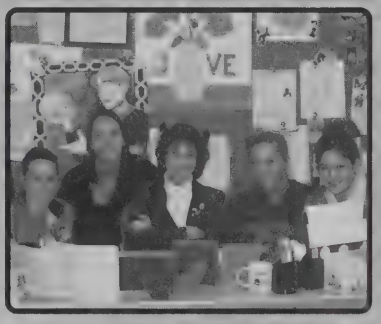

This year's staff is proud and pleased to present to you the completed 2005 edition of the Agawam High School Sachem yearbook. Though it was a year of ups as well as downs, twists as well as turns, and triumphs as well as failures, it was an amazing experience that we, individually, will never forget. It has been quite a journey for all of us involved, and without the help of many people throughout the school and the community, none of it would have been possible.

The staff would like to thank, first off, Jostens publishing company, for providing us with an outlet in which to focus all of our creativity, with the result being a professionally designed and crafted book. They worked hard to help us meet our goals and needs, and with the help of representative Matt Fenn, we were able to accomplish everything we set our minds to. Thank you, Jostens, for being patient with us and realizing our vision for this book.

Next we would like to offer our gratitude to the parents of this year's seniors, and to the businesses in the town of Agawam. Without all of their support with the senior salutes and ad sponsorship, production of the yearbook would not have been feasible. Your generosity will never be forgotten, as it lies forever in the pages of this book.

Needless to say, we would next like to thank Steinmetz Photography, without whom we would not have nearly as many pictures and to whom we are most grateful. Walt, Russ, Ron, and all the rest of the crew, your hard work has meant the world to us. All your help has made the book what it is—thanks for everything.

More thank-yous go out to: Mrs. Mouneinmeh, for allowing us the use of her quiet room; Mrs. Scheve, Mrs. Truelove, and all of the folks in the offices, without whom no one would have known when and where to buy yearbooks (without announcements, who would?), and for getting us the all-important class lists—everyone's name is (hopefully) spelled correctly because of them; Mr. Conte and all the other coaches, athletes, and Athletic Department people who offered so much help to our Sports staff; all of the teachers and club advisors at AHS for allowing us to interrupt classes and meetings with our cameras for what should've been just a few quick shots, but didn't always turn out that way—thanks for your patience; all of the seniors who brought in candids, you made the book funny and touching; and last, but most certainly not least, we would like to thank our advisor, Mrs. Christine Kolodziej. Without her help, this amazing project would have been a complete disaster. In her fourth year as advisor, she knew the rules and helped us out every single day for the entire year. She worked as hard as she possibly could to make our dreams reality, and for that we thank her a thousand times. Mrs. Kolodziej, we wish you a relaxing summer off and good luck handling next year's crew of staffers. To everyone who bought this book, we sincerely hope that you enjoy it and let it hold your memories as you keep Traveling On...

"Now this is not the end. It is not even the beginning of the end. But it is, perhaps, the end of the beginning..."
